Death Ends Couple's Bid To Live Among Blacks

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Robert and Carol Murray, a young white couple, tried for three years to win acceptance in a predominantly black neighborhood. They lost.

Murray was beaten to death Sunday while walking home after making what his widow says was "his last attempt to get the neighborhood to accept him." Now the young woman vows never to return to their home.

Murray went to an evening meeting a half-mile from his east Oakland home after offering to donate some athletic equipment for a new youth center. The 28-year-old real estate salesman walked home at about 8:30 p.m. At about that time, homicide

Sgt. Ed Subica said, a woman called police and reported "four or five of the local thugs are beating up on a white man."

Murray was unconscious when police arrived. He died two hours later during surgery at Vesper Hospital in nearby San Leandro. Mrs. Murray said in an interview that trouble started right after they moved into their tract home in the old neighborhood called Sobrante Park, an area police say has one of Oakland's higher crime rates.

She said black neighbors called her husband names when he walked their dog. They urged their dogs to attack the Murrrays' pet, the young woman recalled, and children chased her husband with sticks. Once, Mrs. Murray recalled, as she was driving home a man leaped onto her car and smashed a window.

Last month, the people running a neighborhood rummage sale refused to accept their donated clothing because they were white, Mrs. Murray said.

The Murray slaying was on the agenda of a Monday night meeting of the Elmhurst Community District, which includes Sobrante Park.

"We've never had any problems like this out here before," board member Leonard Scott said. "This is probably just an isolated incident, not a racial incident." Added Larena Eppur-son: "I heard they were nice people and made an effort to get along in the neighborhood and liked it here." Police say they aren't aware of any similar attacks by blacks on white residents in the area.

Murray's father, realtor Bernie Murray, said his son didn't want to move because he liked their home. But things had deteriorated to the point where "he told me last week they would have to get out," Murray said. The victim received his real estate license three months ago. "He had just started working for me," the elder Murray said. "Everything was going to be good..."

Senators Refuse To Cut Off 'Quitters Pay'

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Michigan Senate still refuses to approve a cutoff in unemployment benefits to workers who quit their jobs.

The frequent proposal to halt payments to "voluntary quitters" came up again Monday night as part of an intricate bill to revise state financing of jobless pay.

The proposal, an amendment sponsored by Sen. John Welborn, R-Kalamazoo, fell seven votes short of the 20 needed for passage.

Welborn and his allies received familiar promises to deal with the problem in the future.

"I've heard every year we're going to do something about it, but we never do," observed Sen. Daniel Cooper, D-Oak Park. "Nobody ever wants to address it."

The vote was 15-13 against the cutoff of payments to "voluntary quitters," but the Senate approved the bill, 22-9, and sent it to the House.

The measure is designed to pay off a $624 million federal debt, money the state borrowed to pay unemployment benefits during the recent recession.

It also is intended to put Michigan's unemployment compensation system on a firm foundation and meet future demands of those out of work. It includes a new formula to tax employers, basing levies on a business' record of laying off its workers.

It would reward a stable employer with little or no tax increase, and levy a bigger burden on firms which have laid off large numbers of workers.

The tax would range from 1 per cent to 9 per cent, based on the first $5,000 of wages paid each employee.

If the state does not enact the new financing scheme by Nov. 10, the federal government will begin reducing its tax credit for employers. It would raise the current unemployment compensation tax of seven-tenths of one per cent by three-tenths of a per cent each year until the debt is paid off.

There was little argument over the need for the bill, but a lot of discussion over cutting off benefits for those who quit their jobs.

Welborn's amendment would have required a person who quit his job to work 14 weeks before qualifying for jobless benefits. Now, anyone who quits just has to wait 13 weeks before applying.

"This addresses itself to putting equity in the system by taking out those who do not deserve compensation," Welborn said. And he had lots of vocal support on the issue, even from those who voted against the amendment in the end.

Sen. David Plawewski, D-Deerborn Heights, chairman of the Senate Labor Committee which approved the funding bill, argued the issue should be addressed in a separate measure. Otherwise, he said, the funding bill would be delayed and miss the Nov. 1 deadline — resulting in the federal tax increase to employers.

In the end he won, but several lawmakers once again promise that next time they will support eliminating benefits for workers who quit their jobs.

Bendix Ending 2-Cent Hassle

SOUTHFIELD, Mich.

(AP) — The Bendix Corp. says it will settle a consumer complaint case involving a two-cent toilet part with a substantial check — reportedly for about $20,000. The money will go to an Athens, Ga., schoolteacher who launched a fight against the Southfield, Mich., firm four years ago after the toilet part failed and flooded her mobile home.

The schoolteacher, Priscilla Moore, says a second flood occurred when the replacement part installed by a repairman broke. Ms. Moore says Bendix employees subjected her to a series of delays when she sought repairs for the mobile home, built by a Bendix subsidiary called Bendix Home Systems Inc. Bendix officials acknowledge the problem was created largely by the unresponsiveness of employees who dealt with Ms. Moore, who prefers

As a result of her case, at least one executive lost his job and the company is reviewing its consumer complaint procedures. "Sure it's embarrassing, sure," Charles F. Donnelly, vice chairman of the board at Bendix, said Monday. "I felt in reading the file that if even half of what she said was legitimate it was too much."

Ms. Moore, a 30-year-old junior high school reading specialist, was living in Tucson, Ariz., when the two-cent battle began in October 1973. The part was a plastic coupling on the bottom of the toilet. The settlement was reached after Ms. Moore took her case to a federal hearing in Washington.

SJ Teen Accused

Assistant City Editor

St. Joseph police this morning arrested a 15-year-old St. Joseph high school sophomore accused of chopping down a 50-foot spruce tree near the school last Friday.

Det. Tom Cooper said the youth admitted chopping down the tree during interviews with police at the high school this morning and will be petitioned to juvenile court.

The tree, valued at $1,000, was chopped down early Friday morning — the day after a disturbance at the high school which grew out of a protest over clearing small trees and brush in an area known as "smoker's corner."

According to Cooper, the arrested youth thought students would blame the school for cutting down the tree and cause another disruption.

School officials and police still are seeking those responsible for other acts of vandalism during the Thursday disturbance — breaking two school windows, setting off a fire alarm and denting police cars.

Cooper said this morning's arrest grew out of information developed by police and school officials during a continuing investigation.

The only other person arrested in date was reported to be a 14-year-old girl who has been petitioned into juvenile court.

Ross Field Granted $184,165

LANSING — Ross Field airport in the Twin Cities is scheduled to receive $184,165 from the Federal Aviation Administration, Gov. William Milliken's office announced today. The Twin Cities Airport Board earlier decided it will use the allocation, based on the number of boardings at Ross Field, toward repaving of the east-west runway, a parallel taxiway and the parking apron at Ross Field. The allocation is part of $10.7 million in federal funds coming to Michigan for public airport development this year. The state's 21 commercial air carrier airports have been allocated $9,144,880 based on a formula involving the number of boardings. General aviation airports — which do not serve commercial airline or military aircraft — have been allocated $1,572,300.

Remorse Lightens His Sentence

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — Remorse for the four deaths he caused limited the sentence handed down to the driver of a van which was struck by a freight train near Bangor last Feb. 9, claiming the lives of four handicapped adults.

Van Buren Circuit Court Judge Meyer Warshawsky sentenced Carl Dean Friel, 36, rural Lawrence, to serve 35 days in jail. The judge also ordered Friel placed on probation for one year. The jail sentence was to begin immediately.

Friel had pleaded no contest

July 25 to a charge of negligent homicide.

In imposing sentence, Judge Warshawsky noted Friel had shown great remorse over the accident and would have to live with the fact his actions contributed to the deaths.

Judge Warshawsky said this morning, "It was obvious from the pre-sentence investigation report and in talking with the prosecutor, his (Friel's) attorney and the defendant that he (the defendant) suffered greatly from having caused the death of people he cared for."

Three other people, including Friel were also injured in the accident, which occurred at the Chessie System crossing on CR-376 near McDonald.

"No matter what a judge does," Warshawsky said, "he cannot bring back those who have died, or still the pain of those who were injured."

Evidence introduced at an earlier preliminary hearing indicated the van had slowed down but had not come to a complete stop just before it was hit. The van was owned by the Van Buren County Transportation Task Force, and was being used to transport handicapped adults home from night classes at Paw Paw High School.

Also sentenced as a result of earlier guilty pleas to charges were:

Ronnie Ray Wireman, 30, formerly of Lawton, from 3½ to 7½ years in prison on a charge of attempted second degree criminal sexual conduct (indecent liberties) with a six-year-old Lawton girl last February. Wireman was given credit for 215 days already spent in custody.

Nathan Paul Brooks, 18, Cassopolis, four months in jail, $100 fine, and one year of probation on a charge of attempted lar-foreman at the Armeto steel plant in Butler. His old job has been filled by someone else, he said, and he doesn't know what

Lottery Game Daily Winner

DETROIT (AP) — The winning number in Monday's daily Michigan Lottery game is seven-six-six (766).

Burnette Farms Packing Co., will be closed all day Wed., Oct. 26, in honor of Mr. William A. Burnette. Adv.

Frank Joseph Valles, 27, Route 1, 34th Street, Lawrence, $100 fine, 85 days in jail, and one year of probation on a charge of attempting to break and enter a barn in Hartford Township on Sept. 19, 1976.

In a written arraignment, John Healy, 27, Kalamazoo, pleaded innocent to two counts of forgery stemming from checks issued July 22 and July 23 in the Lawton area.

Bangor 50-50 Bet To Get New Plant

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

BANGOR — Bangor is being considered for a new 200,000 square foot manufacturing plant which could mean between 150 and 400 new jobs, according to an official of an Indiana construction company.

Tom Barthel of Solitt Construction, South Bend, told the Bangor City Council Monday night at his company has been retained to build the plant, but declined to identify the firm which is considering Bangor or its business.

He said seven other potential sites for the plant have been eliminated, leaving only Bangor and an undisclosed site in Illinois under consideration. Barthel called Bangor's chances of getting the plant "50-50", adding that a decision by the company is expected to be made in December.

Construction would start around Jan. 1, he said.

In addition to the plant, there would be another 6,000 square foot office building, Barthel said. He pegged the total cost of the development at between $5-8 million.

Barthel said his client was attracted by Bangor's industrial park, non-union labor market, available skilled labor, and proximity of a railroad and airports in the area.

The council instructed Earl Perry, superintendent of public works, to supply Barthel with any additional information he might need.

When contacted today, city officials said the information presented Monday night was the first they had heard of the proposal. "It is a complete surprise to us," said city Clerk Norma Suthert.

In other areas, the council authorized Mayor James McLarty to sign a contract for a $80,000 community development grant from the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development following review of the document by city attorney John Verdonk.

Leslie Cripps of Cripps and Associates, Berrien Springs, the city's planning consultant, said the funds will be used for grants to individual homeowners for housing rehabilitation, and construction of a well pump house and 3,000 feet of water main. The water main would connect the city's new well near Bangor high school to the existing water system.

A citizen's advisory committee will be set up to establish criteria for distributing the housing rehabilitation grants.

Cripps said the money is expected to be available within 90 days. Bids on the pump house and water main will be awarded in December.

The council also instructed Perry to check into a complaint by Mrs. Stanley Dixon, 518 Hamilton St., concerning a high water bill; said 8 p.m. as the council for trick-or-treating on Halloween night; and approved purchases totaling $4,669 for equipment for the city's water system.

Free Waterway Ride Coming To An End

Starting with the ancient Romans, the first highway engineers of any consequence, governments have either subsidized transportation or conducted it as one of their functions. The American system mixes the two.

Streets and highways are built and maintained by local or state units, aided in more recent times by federal funding.

The western railroads, those running from Chicago to the Pacific coast were built by government grants of cash and land.

Airports of any dimension are publicly constructed, equipped and maintained.

Barge lines ply a 25,000-mile inland waterway network developed and maintained at public expense.

Only the pipelines remain in private hands for their creation and maintenance.

The barge lines hold a unique position in this pattern.

They ply their water courses free of charge.

Uncle Sam, in the person of the Army Engineers, builds locks where they are needed, dredges the rivers, lakes, canals, provides port facilities and comes to the rescue of stranded vessels.

The railroads, trucks and airplanes pay user taxes for the facilities upon which they operate.

The advantage the arrangement gives the barge lines and freighters is self apparent and is becoming increasingly so at the expense of rail and truck hauling in the vicinity of the inland waterways.

It grows out of the Northwest Ordinance adopted by the Continental Congress in 1787 declaring navigable waters to be "common highways and forever free," with no toll or special tax imposed.

Sixty years later President James K. Polk vetoed a rivers and harbors bill appropriating funds for numerous navigation projects. Polk objected to using public money on installations of localized benefit.

Abe Lincoln, then a freshman Congressman from Illinois, successfully maneuvered an override of the veto. Barring the Mississippi as it does, his home state had more than a passing interest in waterborne commerce.

In more recent times, beginning with FDR, the White House has consistently urged Congress to impose user fees upon boats and barges.

The barge operators have staved off any effort in that direction. Seemingly they have impressed Congress with the argument that the Northwest Ordinance's freedom of navigation ranks with Constitutional guarantees on freedom of speech, trial by jury and freedom from involuntary servitude.

The signal is rising now that the Northwest Ordinance is due for a partial amendment.

The House and Senate have sent to a joint conference committee bills to impose user fees.

The two measures came about on a proposal to spend substantially to replace the locks and dam on the Mississippi at Alton, Illinois.

Jimmy Carter notified Congress he would veto any appropriation bill for Alton unless it required the barge lines to bear some of the cost.

Because the House version is considerably milder than the Senate's plan, the barge operators have endorsed the former.

Better to pay for part of the ride than to risk having to shoulder all or most of it.

While the House-Senate compromise is not expected to work a hardship upon the barge lines and its equalizing value for the hard pressed rails remains in doubt, it is clear that a more equitable rule of economics soon will be put into effect.

Guns Of Autumn Heard In The Land

This is hunting season almost everywhere there is enough open space for hunters to take to field or woods. It is an autumn ritual for millions who annually yield to one of mankind's oldest impulses, that of taking part in the hunt. "Hunting is the master behavior pattern of the human species," anthropologist Bill Laughlin has said. "Man evolved as a hunter...and he spread over the entire habitable world as a hunter." That quotation was cited a few autumns ago by Peter Gwynne, writing in National Wildlife Magazine (October 1974) in defense of hunting. It was then already under fire from what he called the "anti-hunting lobby," a combination of non-hunting conservationists and urban dwellers turned off by society's larger preoccupation with violence in general.

The depth of the anti-hunting feeling — and perhaps some indication of its scope — was glimpsed in a later issue of the magazine in which readers voiced their views. But there decidedly was a division of opinion. Hunting was defended, for instance, by one reader who said "many of us wish to have the killing done by a professional in some unseen slaughterhouse...out of mind, out of sight." And there seemed to be some ambivalence, perhaps in recognition that hunting fees help pay for some of the wildlife preserves and management practices that non-hunting conservationists applaud.

Some 16.3 million Americans bought state hunting licenses, tags, permits and stamps last year, the Department of Interior reports, paying a total of $183.8-million, a record amount. Pennsylvania led all states with 1,281,323 licensed hunters and $14.8-million in collected fees, followed by Michigan, New York, Texas and Wisconsin. The national total represents an upswing from 14.3 million hunters and their payment of $70-million in fees in 1970. Whether the growth is continuing is uncertain. The National Sporting Goods Association reports that the sale of shotguns and large-bore rifles is expected to fall short of last year's $965-million figure. One reason for the expected decline is the higher cost of gasoline. For some time now, hunters have been saying they must drive longer distances to land on which hunting is permitted.

IDEA FOR CUTTING BURDEN ON JUDGES

A judge is responsible for making a life and death decision; also matters of public policy that they may not be competent or have the expertise to judge. The judge decides when life begins, when death or prison sentence occurs, how police should interrogate suspects, even going so far as to tell us where a nuclear plant can be built. This has to be a burden and a terrible disturbance to a judge's mind. Suppose he is in error?

Surely there must be other branches of our government better qualified to decide many of the issues that are taken for granted as the responsibility of the court; a branch of the government, let's say, that has time to gather facts and have a variety of viewpoints and input. I'll bet every one of our judges and courts would breathe a sigh of relief to have some of these issues taken off their shoulders. Charles Douglas III, associate justice of the Supreme Court of

New Hampshire, put it aptly when he said "The trend, is creating a dislocation in our political system through an over-dependence on judges."

SCHOOL SCREENING PROGRAM VALUABLE

Editor, It has come to my attention the Saint Joseph school district is dropping a very valuable service to your community on the grounds that the cost ($200) makes it too expensive. This service is a kindergarten screening program that tests each child for possible learning problems. It briefly checks gross motor development and perceptual development. The results give teachers valuable information which helps them instruct the child in the classroom. It would also help detect the child who has more serious difficulties. This child would need a more complete testing and instructional program.

I am a learning disabilities therapist in a junior high school and I have the opportunity to see and compare children who have received help early in their school life and those who have not. Early intervention (first grade or earlier) allows most children with mild to severe learning problems to stay in the regular classroom, maintain established contacts with their "normal" peers, and must be important to develop a sense of worth rather than inadequacy and defeat.

Kindergarten screening itself is not a sure-fire cure for learning disabilities. However it does provide a starting point for the child who is at an age where he/she is most receptive and most benefited by extra support. If a child is discovered to have a learning disability in the 6th or 7th grade, it is much more difficult to remediate him. His learning pattern is set; habits (good and bad) have been formed; he has experienced failure and frustration; his school attitude is probably negative.

As a teacher and a parent of children with learning disabilities, I urge the community to reinstate the screening program. While no program can cure or eliminate learning disabilities, a screening program such as the one you had in your schools can go a long way toward establishing a basic understanding of the different ways children learn and develop. The screening program was a forward, positive action geared to helping individual children. I hope that your community would not want to be back to where a parent is uncertain of why his child is having trouble learning and must go from teacher to teacher searching for help, requesting testing and pleading for understanding for his child.

If the screening and insight it provides can keep just one child out of a special education program, it will pay for itself many times over. $200 is a small price to pay for an improved educational program.

FENNIVILLE — The United States service academies appear to be determined to have a member of the Laurence Gould family, route 2, Fenniville, among their ranks. While two members of the family would like to accept invitations to apply for appointments, they lack a basic but major requirement. They are both girls. D.E. Gould, 17, would like to accept the invitation to attend the U.S. Coast Guard academy. But, alas, the "D" is for Denise. Two years ago her sister, Antonie, now a sophomore at Michigan State University, turned down an offer from the Naval Academy at Annapolis. Both girls were semifinalists in National Merit Scholarship tests, which is how the academies got their names. Although both girls would obviously be popular cadets, they laughingly admit they can not meet the height requirements of the academies.

The ship is being taken to the Canadian port to be scrapped. The City of Grand Rapids, built for the old Graham & Morton line at Cleveland in 1912, has not been in service for several years. The 300-foot lake liner once ranked among the finest lake ships afloat. It cost approximately $400,000 to construct and equip. The late Capt. ## Name-Calling At The Fed WASHINGTON — The Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System is a most unlikely forum for ungentlemanly name-calling or the sanctioning of illegal activity.

The building that serves as headquarters for the Fed is an imposing marble structure. A certain grandeur and elegance pervades the offices of the nation's central bank and regulator of its monetary policy.

But late last month, that decorum was shattered by a highly unusual event: Two members of the Board of Governors bluntly and publicly accused four of their colleagues of rewarding rather than punishing a bank that violated federal law.

Although there is no showing of impropriety, the case is fraught with political overtones because it involves the second largest bank in the city of Atlanta and the state of Georgia.

That institution, the First National Bank of Atlanta, is an influential member of the business and financial community that lined up solidly behind the state's "favorite son" in the 1976 presidential campaign — Jimmy Carter.

Terms on the Board of Governors are staggered and run for 14 years each, but if Carter serves two terms as president, he will have the opportunity to reappoint — or replace — four of the seven current governors.

The term of Arthur F. Burns doesn't expire until January 1984, but his four-year chairmanship runs out next February. Many Democrats in Congress want a new chairman, and Burns has been currying favor at the White House in an ill-disguised effort to secure Carter's blessing for a third consecutive term as chairman.

Overriding the objections of both an angry minority of the board and the agency's professional staff, Burns and three of his colleagues recently issued a decision which can only be described as being overly solicitous of the bank's interests.

The bank and its parent corporation, a holding company, had come to the board seeking approval of a plan to acquire two smaller Georgia banks, in Savannah and Dalton.

Bank holding companies are required by federal law to obtain the Board of Governors' approval before they take control of additional banks. In the Georgia case, the Board concluded that the Atlanta bank had "acquired indirect ownership and control" of both banks without the Board's prior approval, in violation of the Bank Holding Company Act.

That majority opinion cited a pattern dating back to 1969, involving millions of dollars worth of what were, in effect, interest-free loans from the Atlanta bank to its directors, enabling it to sidestep the law by buying stock in the Savannah and Dalton banks in their own names.

After acknowledging the violation of law, the majority of the Board of Governors nevertheless found mitigating circumstances which it believed justified after-the-fact approval of the illegal act.

That decision was supported by a bare majority of four of the seven governors.

Eyebrows were raised at the Fed not only by the 4-3 split but by the exceptionally strong language of the dissent signed by two of the three governors voting in the minority.

Alleging that the Atlanta bank's "financial resources do not meet the Board's normal standards for expansion," the dissent said the majority opinion had turned "violations of the law" into a positive factor favoring approval.

At least one congressional committee already is conducting a preliminary investigation into the Fed's decision. A full inquiry is needed to dispel any hint of another Georgia banking scandal early in Carter's tenure.

Carter Energy Policy Negative

That the Carter energy proposals have run into deep trouble in the U.S. Senate should surprise no one. The Carter package is a bad one, a wrong bill. The difficulties are fundamental, not matters of this or that detail. No amount of bating the oil companies will cure the problems. Even though administration spokesmen are describing the Carter package in make-or-break terms, the whole thing should be scrapped.

The trouble is that the Carter energy program is negative rather than positive. Fundamentally, it assumes scarcity.

It reflects the thinking of those who favor limits to growth, who have a philosophy of less is more. Emotionally the Carter energy team — emphatically including energy czar James Schlesinger — dislike the affluent American lifestyle. They favor small cars because they get better mileage — but they also consider them morally superior to large cars.

Through drastically increased energy taxes, the Carter team would like to bring about a sharp change in the American way of life.

Against this pinched and puritanical crowd, a politician who came forward with a positive and forward-looking program would sweep any election. Besides, he would be right.

Once upon a time, liberals spoke in optimistic terms. We had nothing to fear but fear itself, we would create 50 million jobs, launch the Manhattan Project, win the war, put a man in space, on the moon.

But today the liberals in the Carter administration are saying we must cut back, we must do with less, we are going to get poorer.

It is time someone stood up and said Nuts to that.

Reading the Carter energy proposals, you would think that science and technology were static. You would think that the admittedly finite petroleum supply were all that we have have. But science is not static. It is dynamic. As its history shows, it advances by quantum leaps.

Real leadership, in contrast to what we now have in the White House, would adopt a can-do attitude. If we learn how to harness the hydrogen fusion reaction, an enormously increased energy supply will be available to us. Hydrogen fusion — a very different thing from the uranium and plutonium reaction currently in use — is the reaction that powers the hydrogen bomb. Hydrogen fusion is what generates the heat of the sun. If we could harness hydrogen fusion, we would get as much energy from a gallon of sea water as we now get from tons of coal.

Instead of preaching security, why is the government not moving ahead on the technological frontier? If we could launch a Manhattan Project, surely we can master the technical problems currently presented by fusion. If we reflect upon the history of science, is there any doubt that we can?

And there are other new sources of energy, and doubtless some not yet even thought of. Scientists are developing geothermal wells, to tap the heat of the earth's crust. Alcohol is a vegetable by-product, and presumably we are not going to run out of vegetable.

What this country needs is a creative, forward-looking approach to the energy program. We do not need the scarcity-oriented, Scrooge-like approach of the puritans in the White House.

Shoreham Group Also Seeks To Buy Whitcomb Tower

The promoter of a plan for financing the sale of the Shoreham Terrace Nursing Home through privately issued tax-exempt bonds told the St. Joseph City Commission Monday that he is attempting to negotiate a similar deal for the Whitcomb Tower.

Attorney James M. Huck told commissioners that Harry F. Mayfield and Co., St. Louis, Mo., is interested in assuming management of the Whitcomb and possibly the three other retirement homes in the state owned by Michigan Baptist Homes.

Huck, who is associated with the Mayfield firm, said the retirement homes would be acquired in the same manner proposed for Shoreham Terrace. He said he is now negotiating with the attorney for the receiver of Michigan Baptist Homes.

Michigan Baptist, which was placed in Chapter 11 receivership in March under federal bankruptcy rules, is continuing to operate its four retirement homes under the supervision of a court-appointed receiver until a financial reorganization plan is completed.

Huck, of Oakbrook Terrace, Ill., is a semi-retired attorney who says he specializes in arranging financing for the sale of health care facilities.

He has previously appeared before the city commission promoting a financial plan for the sale of Shoreham Terrace.

Details of the proposed Shoreham plan were reported in the Oct. 6 Herald-Palladium.

Under the plan, the nursing

Trick-Treat Hours Set In St. Joe

Trick-or-treating hours in the City of St. Joseph will be from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. on Halloween night, Monday, Oct. 31. The hours were set by the city commission last night.

home would be purchased by a non-profit corporation which would then turn around and lease it to a profit-making management firm operated by Mayfield.

The non-profit corporation would issue tax-exempt revenue bonds paying nine per cent interest to pay off the existing owners.

The bond issue, however, depends on the city commission agreeing to accept ownership of the nursing home — as a gift — when the bonds are repaid in 15 or 20 years, Huck said.

The city commission must adopt a resolution agreeing to accept the facility as a gift before the Internal Revenue Service will allow issuance of the tax-exempt bonds, Huck said.

Huck asked the city commission to take a first step toward both the Shoreham and Whitcomb deals by approving letters of intent stating that the city will consider accepting ownership of the facilities when the bonds are repaid. The city would not be involved in acquiring any of the three other Michigan Baptist retirement homes, Huck indicated.

He said the letters are needed to begin work on the mechanics of underwriting the bond issues. He has previously stated that the bonds would be underwritten by the Mayfield firm.

Later, the city commission would be asked to approve formal resolutions stating that the city will accept the properties, Huck said.

LITTEST PICKET: Stephen Schultz, 2, holds Teddy bear as he joined his father, Kenneth, on picket line Monday outside Benton Harbor School District administrative offices. About 20 teachers picketed to demonstrate contract impasse with board of education. Teachers have remained on jobs, but Benton Harbor Education Association officials said after-school picketing will continue to "encourage board of education to reach a contract settlement." ## BH Incumbent Decides To Run Benton Harbor City Commissioner Alfred Williams has decided to wage a write-in campaign to retain his 4th Ward seat on the commission.

Williams said this morning he had decided earlier not to run again because of ill health and did not file for re-election, but said he has recovered and friends have urged him to run.

Only one candidate, Juanita Echols of 663 Madison Ave., filed nominating positions for the 4th Ward seat to get on the ballot for the Nov. 8 general election. Two commissioner-at-large seats are also up for election.

Williams, 69, was appointed to represent the city's 4th Ward in April, 1975, and was elected to the seat in November, 1975.

In May, 1976, Williams was one of five members of the city commission on the ballot in a recall election. He was the only one to survive as Mayor Charles F. Joseph and three commissioners were swept out of office.

Last April, Williams underwent surgery at Hines, Ill., Veterans Hospital.

Lottery Records Piling Up

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Michigan lottery is chalking up record revenues, record weekly sales and gave away its biggest single prize ever in the recently-completed fiscal year. State officials announced that for the 12 months ending Sept. 30, the lottery grossed more than $262 million in revenue; Awarded nearly $117 million in prizes, and produced $118 million in net revenues for the state. During the past fiscal year, the lottery set a new prize record, with $1.8 million going to David Shepherd of Onstead in the "President's" instant game. And in the week of Sept. 13-20, it set a weekly sales record of $10.5 million with its "three-of-a-kind" instant game. Since November of 1972, when it began operating, the lottery has produced over $664 million in gross revenues and has netted $390 million.

PROMOTERS: James M. Huck, left, of Oakbrook Terrace, Ill., and Steve McElroy, right, of Hinsdale, Ill., attended St. Joseph City Commission meeting Monday night. Huck asked commissioners to cooperate in financial plan that could lead to Harry F. Mayfield & Co., St. Louis, assuming management of both Shoreham Terrace and Whitcomb Tower. Both men are associated with Mayfield firm. (Staff photo)

NEW BRANCH FOR PEOPLES STATE: Architect's sketch shows Georgian Colonial style of Peoples State Branch now under construction at northwest corner of Napier and Downing avenues, Benton Township. Site is just north across Napier from proposed Orchard Mall (formerly called Pipestone Mall) shopping center. Richard L. Schanze, president of bank based in St. Joseph said completion is scheduled for spring, 1978, on branch that will have 2,800 square feet of floor space and cost about $200,000 including land. New office will be fifth for Peoples State and will offer full range of banking services. Holland Construction Co., St. Joseph, is general contractor, and D.J. McGrath and Associates, St. Joseph, the architect.

BRANCH SITE: Peoples State Bank of St. Joseph will open branch office in portable building (left) while permanent office is being constructed at northwest corner of Napier and Downing avenues. Opening is targeted about Nov. 7. Sign describes branch as Pipestone Office. It is across Napier from proposed Orchard Mall (formerly Pipestone Mall) and three blocks west of Pipestone Road in Benton Township. Five banks filed for branches in the vicinity of Orchard Mall, and Peoples State is the first to announce approval from government regulatory agency. (Staff photo)

He said he has only about two months remaining to complete the Shoreham Terrace deal. The Whitcomb deal will take longer because of the bankruptcy proceedings, he added.

Commissioners took no action on Huck's request for the letters. They told him to send samples of the letters with the exact wording sought to City Manager Gerald Hepler who is to make a recommendation on whether to approve them. A decision could come at the next meeting, commissioners said.

Huck said the tax-exempt status would make the bonds "considerably more marketable than any other type of bond."

He said the facilities would continue to pay property taxes while they are being operated by Mayfield and the city would be under no obligation if the non-profit corporation were to default.

He said Mayfield would provide management as good or better than at present.

Questioned after the meeting, Huck said provisions for life-lease holders living in the Whitcomb would be a matter of negotiation subject to approval of the bankruptcy court.

Huck was accompanied by Steve McElroy, a mortgage broker from Hinsdale, Ill., who acted as a finder for the Shoreham Terrace deal. McElroy did not speak during the meeting.

In other areas, the commission was informed that four industries in the Silver Beach area are asking for a reconsideration of the commission's decision last week to rezone them from light industrial to water recreational.

Attorneys for the industries told commissioners the written requests for a hearing on the matter should be received today. The attorneys present were Henry Gleiss, representing Dixon Beverage and Crown Inc. janitorial supplies; Richard B. Lindenfeld, representing I'M Developmental Engineering; and Harold Neal of South Haven, representing Horan Red-Mix.

The attorneys said they had new information the commission should be made aware of in regard to the decision. They also said they want to clarify provisions of the new zoning law which place restrictions on non-conforming structures.

City commissioners took no action on the attorneys' comments.

The commission awarded a $19,225 contract to George Miller & Sons for repair work to four underwater intake funnels for the city water plant on Lake Michigan. The contract calls for placement of 220 tons of stone around the funnels to protect them and for the removal of sand clogging two of them.

The only other bid on the project was $12,400 from Speidel Foundation & Marine Contractors, St. Joseph.

The commission voted to hire contractor Wilbur Wolske of St. Joseph to perform needed repairs to bring a house at 3320 Lake Shore Drive up to building code standards.

Wolske had submitted an estimate of $1,533, according to Carl Conklin, director of building and inspections.

The repair costs will be spread as a special assessment on the house which is being purchased by Carmen Green on a land contract from Leonard Kubliak of Columbia. The assessment will be spread over five years at six per cent interest.

The commission decided last week to hire a contractor after Mrs. Green said her father was hospitalized and could not perform the required work as she had previously promised. She agreed to pay for the repairs through a special assessment.

Youth Admits To Theft, Makes Amends With $5

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

The Benton Harbor Good Fellow fund is $5 richer thanks indirectly to a youth who stole money from a Herald-Palladium newspaper vending machine. The Herald-Palladium recently received a check for $5 and a letter from the Berrien deferred prosecution program, saying the money was restitution from a client. "He has confessed, and volunteered the facts in the matter and they have been verified by a polygraph examination. The restitution is made anonymously," said the letter.

Noel Noggle, program director, said the youth admitted breaking into a newspaper vending machine and stealing the cash. The money will be applied towards the 1977 Benton Harbor Good Fellow fund to help the needy, according to Stephen Banyon, assistant controller for The Herald-Palladium. Deferred prosecution is aimed at keeping selected, good-risk offenders — usually those accused for the first time — out of the court system, according to Noggle. If a "client" successfully completes a counseling program and makes restitution for all crimes he has committed, the offender is not charged.

Noggle said that from January to October, the program's clients have returned $15,746 in cash to various businesses and merchants for thefts by people in the program. He also said that in the four years the program has been operating in Berrien County, $40,000 in cash has been returned. Noggle added that the figures are only cash, and do not include merchandise returned as part of the restitution program.

BH Woman Pleads Guilty To ADC Fraud Attempt

A Benton Harbor woman accused of receiving $3,385 in ADC illegally while she held other jobs pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of attempted welfare fraud when arraigned Monday in Berrien Circuit Court.

Laura Carr, 37, of 767 Pasadena Ave., pleaded guilty before Judge William S. White to attempted welfare fraud over $500, and was continued free on a $1,000 personal recognizance bond to await sentencing of up to two years in prison and/or a $1,000 fine. The original charge was welfare fraud over $500.

She was charged with receiving ADC benefits from Aug. 1, 1973, to March 31, 1976, and failing to inform the Berrien Department of Social Services of her employment. The prosecutor's office said she worked as a teacher's aide in the Benton Harbor school system and had part-time work at K-mart while collecting ADC.

Purchases Van For Hospital

SPECIALLY EQUIPPED: Edward Botham, right, was among the first skilled nursing facility patients at Berrien General Hospital, Berrien Center, to ride the newly purchased touring van that is specially equipped for handicapped and wheelchair patients.

Berrien General Auxiliary

BERRIEN CENTER — An $8,300 donation from Berrien General Hospital's Auxiliary has helped make possible the purchase of a specially-equipped van for skilled nursing patients at the hospital.

Other area individuals and organizations, including the Buchanan Chapter No. 450, Women of the Moose, Twin City Council of Beta Sigma Phi and the First United Methodist church of Buchanan, also contributed toward the purchase.

The auxiliary's donation was presented to Sandra Bruce, hospital administrator at the annual meeting in May. The money was raised by the auxiliary through various functions during the year.

The van features hydraulic lift to help handicapped and wheelchair patients load and unload. It will be used for fall "color tours," shopping trips and other outings planned for the patients.

Betty Renbarger, skilled nursing facility activity therapy director, said volunteer drivers and escorts are needed for patient outings.

"We're very anxious to take our patients out since many have not had the opportunity to take a ride in the country for years," Mrs. Renbarger said. "It's great to see the enjoyment on the faces of the patients," she added.

The generous donation from the hospital auxiliary helped make it possible for us to realize our dream," Mrs. Renbarger said.

Kilt Popular At School

NEW YORK, N.Y. — The traditional kilt is one of the best looking and most versatile items in a school wardrobe this year, says "Seventeen" magazine.

With a switch of tops and accessories, one tartan kilt will take on six entirely different looks to suit your many moods! When you feel like:

— Resembling a Highland lass: Wear the kilt with a ruffled white high-collared blouse under a dark cotton velvet blazer. A ribbon choker, opaque nylon tights, bow-topped leather pumps and a leather pouch complete the Scottish look.

— Going to the stadium: Bundle up in an oversized wool cardigan sweater and matching muffler. Add wool mittens, ribby knee-highs, rugged all-weather shoes and a tweed newsboy cap for a cozy, sporty kilt look.

— Portraying a neat, classic schoolgirl: Layer a crew-necked

Shetland wool sweater and a tartan scarf over a trim shirt, then cross-strap it all with a leather shoulder bag. Try kilts, fringe-flapped shoes over dark knee-highs.

— Dressing up for a special date: Top the kilt with a drawstring-waisted filmy white cotton camisole etched with lace. Add white nylon tights, soft white ballet slippers and a frilly peek of petticoat at the hem for feminine fun.

— Stopping from Grandpa's closet: Wear the kilt with an oxford shirt, add a grey front-buttoned sweater-vest, and for a special touch of whimsy, a man's bow tie! Ribbed knee socks and leather moccasin slippers complete the style.

trations may be sent to Marriage and Family Center, 534 Fountain, NE, Grand Rapids, 49503.

The Rev. Andrew D. Atwood, director of the Marriage and Family Center, says, the conference has arisen out of the growing awareness within both Roman Catholic and Protestant circles that the reality of divorce is here, and probably here to stay.

The Rev. Atwood lists such statistics as in 1970, there were 91,833 marriages in Michigan and 28,534 divorces granted. In 1975 there were 82,865 marriages and 40,782 divorces. In 1976, the number of divorces rose to 43,101 and that represents a 44 per cent increase over the number of divorces granted in 1970. This percentage is in line with the 45 per cent increase seen nationally for those same years. In 1970, Michigan registered 10.38 marriages per 1,000 people and 3.37 divorces. In 1975 there were 9.06 marriages per 1,000 people and 4.47 divorces.

The conference will feature four nationally known speakers who have all been pioneers in their work with divorced people.

The Rev. Fr. Jim Young, director of the Weston School of Theology in Cambridge, Mass., will speak on "The Churches and Divorce." Dr. R. Lofton Hudson, who is founder and director of the Midwest Christian Counseling Center in both Kansas City and Omaha, author of "Til Divorce Do Us Part" and a member of the Baptist Church, will speak on "When Is A Marriage Dead?"

Sister Paula Ripple, a former college dean of students and pastoral minister, now executive director of the North American Conference of Separated and Divorced Catholics, will speak on "Men and Women: Differences in Coping."

Helen Koolman Hiesler, advertising manager for Thomas Nelson Publishers, author of the book, "The Other Side of Divorce," and a member of the Baptist Church in Nashville, will speak on "How to Respond to Your Friends and Relatives."

Workshops will be presented on sex and dating, a Christian theology of divorce, loneliness and grief, remarriage and children of divorce, both teens and pre-teens.

This will be the first time in the state of Michigan that such a unique coalition of sponsoring organizations combined with nationally recognized speakers will be brought together in one place to address the many questions raised by people who are experiencing first hand the realities of divorce, the Rev. Atwood said.

Freeze Bread For Freshness

Although enriched bread may be stored in the refrigerator to retard mold, refrigeration tends to increase staling. To maintain the best eating qualities, freeze bread.

For convenience, wrap only two, four or six slices instead of the whole loaf. For lunch-time sandwiches, use the bread frozen — it will be thawed and fresh by lunch. Or, simply put the frozen slices in a toaster.

WHEN TO CALL YOUR CHILD'S PHYSICIAN

You should never hesitate or be afraid to call your child's physician whenever any abnormal conditions arise. A doctor knows better than anyone else how to relieve and treat them.

Certainly call if any of the following occur: abdominal pain, accidents, blood in stools, convulsions, cough, especially if severe, diarrhea, earache, fever, poisoning, poor appetite, rashes—especially those associated with fever, sore throat, swollen glands, vomiting, wheezing or difficulty in breathing. Of these, poisoning, severe abdominal pain and convulsions associated with fever and lethargy are most dangerous and urgent.

Plan Photography Exhibit

An exhibit of photographs by Gary Cialdella will open Tuesday, Nov. 1, at the St. Joseph Art Center, St. Joseph.

Cialdella is the head of the photography department at the Kalamazoo Institute of Art, and instructor of photography at Kalamazoo Valley Community College.

The exhibit will be on display through Dec. 1. Gallery hours are Tuesday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., and Saturday and Sunday from 1 to 4 p.m.

The exhibit includes 27 photographs taken within the past six months, and 16 photographs selected from Cialdella's best work taken throughout his photographic career. Several prize-winning photographs are included.

Cialdella is a graduate of Western Michigan University, where he earned masters degrees in history and in audio-visual media with a specialty in photography.

In 1975, Cialdella had a black and white photograph purchased for the permanent collection at Kalamazoo Institute of Art and this year won the purchase award at the Kalamazoo Area Art Show Juried Exhibition, sponsored by the Kalamazoo Institute of Art. He also had a photograph selected in a Portrait of American National Photographic Competition which was circulated throughout the country by the Smithsonian Traveling Exhibition Service. He recently won a Certificate of Merit Award in Focus '77, a juried exhibition for all Michigan photographers.

The photographic artist has exhibited his work since 1974 when he held a one-man graduate student exhibition at Western Michigan University. He has also exhibited at Kalamazoo Valley Community College. Last month his work was shown in a one-man exhibition of recent photographs at WMU.

Cialdella says it has only been within the last decade that photography has become an accepted art form and has become an increasingly popular course at both art centers and colleges throughout the country.

He says, "The camera has rapidly become the individual tool of discovery. The unique quality of a photograph to suspend moments in time allows us to see beyond the obvious. This quality of photography for close examination of the world is a function of both the technical and aesthetic nature of the medium."

"I believe technique not to be an end in itself. Good photographs employ good technique to further the aesthetic, communicative and personal goals of the selective eye of the photographer."

New Status For Museum

South Haven

By ALICE FLOOD

South Haven Correspondent SOUTH HAVEN — The trust museum board of Liberty Hyde Bailey Museum has become the board of the corporation since the incorporation of the Liberty Hyde Bailey Museum Memorial Fund.

The board will receive financial assistance from Glenn Piepenpol, trust officer of Citizens Trust and Savings Bank of South Haven, according to Mrs. James Disette, chairman of the board.

Purpose of incorporation is to be able to receive gifts of money and interesting old objects for which the donor may receive a receipt for receiving income tax credit as a contribution.

At present, the board members suggest that a donor of an article provide an estimate of the value, made by a qualified person.

Money received as a gift or memorial will be maintained in a fund to be used for additions to, and improvement of, collections.

Mrs. Disette said the South Haven City Council will continue full repair and maintenance of the building and grounds, located north of the parking lot of South Haven Community Hospital.

The board hopes to make the museum more like the old-fashioned farm home which they believe is the quality appreciated by visitors.

As one of the oldest centennial homes in South Haven, and the only Michigan registered historical site in town, the

INCORPORATED: Articles of incorporation of Liberty Hyde Bailey Museum Memorial Fund, dated Sept. 11, 1977, have been received from the Michigan Department of Commerce. members feel that the furnishings should cover the many years of its use as a home, the chairman said.

At present, the child's room is the area needing more furnishings, such as toys, children's books of former days and other such objects.

Another present project is the completion of an inventory of all contents of the museum. This includes a description of each of the hundreds of objects with its location and the name of the donor. All information will be transferred to file cards for easy reference.

Liberty Hyde Bailey, world famous botanist and horticulturist, was born in this frame house March 15, 1858. He graduated in 1882 from Michigan Agricultural College where he served on its faculty and designed the nation's first horticultural laboratory building.

Bailey later became director of horticulture at Cornell University, retiring in 1913.

The Liberty Hyde Bailey Museum is open to the public from 2 to 4:30 p.m. Tuesdays and Fridays. Special tours may also be arranged.

The Bailey home was purchased by Mrs. C.B. Charles and presented to the city of South Haven, in 1938 to be maintained as a memorial to Liberty Hyde Bailey and as a tribute to a lifelong friendship that existed between her husband and Bailey.

Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan presented the gardens and a marble bench to landscape the museum grounds.

Lighting Needs Differ

When is a room considered well lighted?

The answer is when you have adequate light in it to fit every need and convenient controls to adjust that lighting.

This isn't as simple as it sounds, says the current (Nov. 15) issue of Woman's Day — needs vary and spaces differ. The magazine sheds some light on several of the most often faced lighting situations in a home, offers solutions and discusses alternatives.

For example...

The greatest variety of lighting needs are in the living room: strong, shielded light for work or play areas; special-effect lighting to set a mood; highlight decorative items; and general-purpose lighting. Dimmers are helpful here.

A single central fixture is never adequate for a dining room where you want enough light around the room yet only a subdued sparkle for party dining.

Fluorescent lighting is best over-all bet for the kitchen — it's bright, well diffused, energy-saving and cool. Choose your fluorescents carefully;

Warm White Deluxe is best for warm color schemes, Cool White Deluxe for cooler colors.

Over a game table, there should be diffused light on the playing area.

Strip lighting, used in theatrical dressing rooms for years, is ideal for a vanity. To be most effective, the strips should run down the sides of the mirror.

Woman's Day offers some tips to help in planning the lighting for your home:

1. Entrances, exits and stairways should be well lighted for safety. Closets should have lights.

2. If you're adding lighting, make sure you have adequate electrical service to carry the extra load.

3. Good outdoor entrance lighting should define the steps clearly and throw light on a caller's face. Lanterns with a photo cell turn on at dusk and off at dawn automatically. Energy-saving mercury-vapor lamps yield twice as much illumination per watt as incandescent.

Halloween Legends

NEW YORK (AP) — An Irish legend says that milk kept in a house on Halloween will often be turned sour by elves or goblins.

It is also considered unlucky there to sit on a table or stub one's toe at Halloween, according to Sally Hopkins, researcher for a leading greeting card company.

In parts of Wales, says Miss Hopkins, sneezing on Halloween is thought to be dangerous, for the soul supposedly might then leave the body.

Another Welsh superstition holds that bubbles seen in a teacup or an itching skin foretell the arrival of visitors on Halloween night.

Some Scottish people, the researcher says, still cover their mirrors at Halloween, because legend recounts that one's soul can be "captured" by a reflected image. On the other hand, it is considered lucky in Scotland to pick up a pin or repay a debt on Halloween.

Coffee And Headaches

If you're suffering from "nervous" symptoms, it may be wise to cut down on coffee. According to an article in the British Medical Journal, excessive consumption of caffeine-containing beverages can cause recurrent headaches, irritability and gastrointestinal disturbances.

Decaffeinated coffee has also been shown to stimulate acid secretion in the stomach, indicating that there is more to the effects of coffee than caffeine.

Abrupt withdrawal from coffee, on the other hand, may also be associated with headaches.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Daddy Has Jail Stigma

Dear Ann Landers: My husband, who is actually a pleasant, well-behaved, law-abiding man, has got himself into a peck of trouble. He ignored several dozen traffic tickets and showed up to argue his case — fortified by a little "bottled courage." He got mouthy with the judge and was given a choice — $100 fine or 15 days in jail. He chose jail.

We have three small children — two boys, seven and five years of age, and a baby girl 10 months old. I am just sick to think that my children will have the stigma of their father's jail record all their lives.

Please tell me what to say to them. I have worried myself sick over how to break the news. I need your help. — Ashamed And Tongue-Tied Mother

Dear Mother: It doesn't make much difference what you tell the girl, but I suggest you tell the boys the truth.

Explain that Daddy is not a bad man and he didn't hurt anyone. Tell them people who drive cars must follow certain rules or they will get into trouble with the police — and this is what happened to their daddy. Explain that his punishment is to spend 15 days in jail and that's why he won't be home for a while.

Help Is Free

Dear Ann Landers: So many people are unaware of the help available to them free of charge. Will you kindly print this information in your column? I learned of it at a church meeting last night, went home, checked it out and it works fine.

The federal government provides hot-line services of all kinds for people in distress. If you think you have been denied housing because of race, color, sex, religion or national origin, call 800-424-6590. The Housing Discrimination Hot-Line will explain your rights. It is open seven days a week, 24 hours a day.

If you want to check the safety of toys or any products such as a new appliance, call the Consumer Product Safety Commission Hot-Line — 800-638-2668. Open 24 hours a day.

Runaway children can get counseling by calling 800-421-4000. If they want to contact their parents, a recorded message will be taken and relayed — free of charge. This service is open 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

The Moving Hot-Line helps people with complaints regarding moving from state to state. They will also check into complaints having to do with buses and trains. The number to call is 800-424-8312. Open from 8:30 a.m. to 12 noon and 1 p.m. to 4:40 p.m. Monday through Friday. Sign me. — Helpful Hilda

Dear Hilda: You are helpful indeed.

Take The Money

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a dedicated worker in a hospital auxiliary that does many wonderful things for handicapped children and adults. I feel very good about this group but one thing grips the daylight out of me.

I can name at least 25 women who brag about being active members, yet they do nothing but pay their dues and attend

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I can't seem to get the answer to my questions. I am a male, 67, 175 pounds and 5 feet 8. I have never been in a hospital until two weeks ago and in general have had excellent health, no coffee, liquor or tobacco.

Recently I felt a numbness in my arm, so I had a complete physical, brain wave tracing, electrocardiogram and the works. I was told I was in excellent health and nothing was amiss.

One day after receiving this report I suffered a heart attack and am waiting to learn if I will need a bypass operation.

Wouldn't some phase of this complete physical examination indicate some warning of a clot formation?

What warning sign might be looked for in case of a future attack? Apparently numbness is not sufficient.

DEAR READER — "I think I've heard that song before." Many people don't seem to realize that heart disease is a "silent killer." You may not have a single symptom, even numbness, before the heart attack strikes. A healthy appearing man in his middle 40s may suddenly crumple over with chest pain and be dead in minutes. That is why people simply must have a preventive program. When the first sign or symptom is an attack causing death, it is too late to do

Apple Stuffing For Chops

Golden Apple Stuffing is superb for Cornish game hens or pork chops.

Mix together one cup diced Golden Delicious apple, one-quarter cup raisins, three-quarter cup soft bread crumbs, three-quarter teaspoon salt and one and one-half teaspoons sugar. Saute two tablespoons chopped onion in two tablespoons butter or margarine for five minutes. Add along with three tablespoons hot water to bread mixture; toss to blend. Makes enough stuffing for four Cornish game hens or six double-cut pork chops.

ASTRO-GRAPH

Bernice Bede Osol

Oct. 26, 1977

There's a possibility that you'll form some interesting and productive partnerships this coming year. Where you have previously been a loner, you may benefit greatly from tandem associations.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) One-to-one relationships are a critical area for you today. You may find you have trouble even with those you usually get along with. Find out more about yourself by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter. Mail $30 cents for each and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 488, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10101. Be sure to specify your birth date.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) There are rewards for work well done today, but duties and responsibilities will also be a lot more difficult than normal.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) While you're in a sociable mood today, you'd be wise to avoid large gatherings. You'll be more comfortable in a small group where you can exercise control.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Establish realistic goals today. If you set your sights beyond your scope, you'll feel you've achieved nothing when you really have.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) The one type of person you don't want to be around today is the know-it-all. He or she could really get your blood boiling.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Financial conditions are mixed for you today. There could be a few roadblocks you didn't anticipate.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Independence is a noble virtue, but today you have to strike a balance in one-to-one relationships, to assure others you care about them, too.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) The possibilities for personal gain are good today, but make sure the price is worth the return. Don't swap integrity for silver.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Social complications may arise for you today if one in the group tries to run the show. You won't sit back and take it.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Should you have a run-in with a person in authority today, you'd be wise to back off a bit, even though you may be right.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Trying to blatantly impose your will on others today will draw you only nasty responses. Sugarcoat the message. You'll get it across.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You must feel the input is equal in any joint ventures involving money today, otherwise you'll feel you're being taken advantage of.

State High Court Reverses Old 'Lord Mansfield's Rule'

By LARRY McDERMOTT
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Striking down a 97-year-old ruling, the Michigan Supreme Court says a husband and wife may testify against each other in divorce cases which question the legitimacy of a child.

The court said Monday that "Lord Mansfield's Rule," a 200-year-old English ruling adopted by the state in 1880, has outlived its intent. A husband and wife may testify about whether they've had sexual relations outside of marriage that led to pregnancy, the high court decided. The rule had been cited in the past as a way to prevent increased public welfare by pushing the burden of child support onto the husband and not the state. The court rejected that argument.

"But even assuming that it has such an effect, and apart from the due process objections that might be raised against such a policy, we say...we are not persuaded that the public treasury should be protected by foisting upon a husband the support of a child obviously not his own," the court said in its 6-1 ruling.

State law has diminished the adverse consequences once linked to the illegitimacy, the court said. It pointed out that illegitimate children now can inherit from the mother.

The decision came in a case in which Donald K. Serafin filed for divorce against Gloria Jean Serafin in Wayne County. Serafin alleged that a child born to Mrs. Serafin during their marriage wasn't his.

Wayne County Circuit Court, citing Mansfield's Rule, excluded Serafin's testimony that the child couldn't be his. The court granted a divorce but ordered Serafin to pay child support and permitted the woman to keep the child.

The state Court of Appeals reversed the decision on the ground that excluding Serafin's testimony violated his due process rights. The high court agreed with that decision and went one step further by striking down the old rule.

Family tranquility "might be more readily destroyed by forcing a husband to support a child that in fact is not his, while protecting his wife and her paramour who engaged in extramarital activity in gross violation of the marital relation," the court said.

"In our view, the public peace and respect for the law are enhanced, not by arbitrarily assigning the duty of support to a man who is not the father of the child, but by allowing him to contest paternity by his best evidence," the majority said.

In writing her dissent, Justice Mary Coleman noted that the other judges focused their attention primarily on the interests of the husbands. Overlooked, she said, are the interests of the children.

Prosecution Hints Triangle In Slaying

By CYNTHIA KYLE
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Feminist groups rallying to her defense say Francine Hughes killed her ex-husband because he beat her. Prosecutors say the motive behind the slaying was Mrs. Hughes' relationship with another man.

The two sides will square off today as testimony in the controversial case begins in Ingham County Circuit Court.

Prosecuting Attorney Martin Palus said in opening arguments Monday that he will introduce letters to establish a motive in the slaying. He said the letters indicate a "relationship" between Mrs. Hughes and an unnamed man.

Mrs. Hughes, 30, is charged with the first-degree murder of James Hughes, an alleged crime that feminist leaders say was prompted by years of beatings.

Hughes, 31, died in a March 8 fire in the bedroom of the Danville home where the couple lived with their four children. Police accounts say Mrs. Hughes surrendered soon after lighting gasoline poured around the bed where her ex-husband slept.

Judge Ray C. Hotchkiss denied a motion to suppress the correspondence, despite defense attorney Arvon Greydanus' arguments that the information would "inflamm" the jurors. Greydanus told the 12 women and two men jurors that he would attempt to prove that Mrs. Hughes was a "battered" woman, driven to action after years of abuse.

"James Hughes threatened to kill Francine Hughes on numerous occasions and you'll find out she believed it — with all her heart. Francine Hughes is not going to deny that in her memory...she was the one who set that fire," Greydanus said. "I am going to ask you to put yourself in the place of Francine Hughes," he added. "What Francine Hughes did, it was done in the context of her experience."

He said it was up to the prosecuting attorney to prove that Mrs. Hughes "cunningly devised a plan" to kill her ex-husband.

The 14 jurors, two of whom will later become alternates, were empaneled after nearly five hours of lengthy questioning about their previous knowledge of the death and their ability to make a fair decision in the case.

The jurors were chosen from 105 persons who squeezed into the 81-seat courtroom, forcing Hotchkiss to order out of the crowded room the nearly 25 individuals who gathered in support of Mrs. Hughes.

Young Favors U.N. Sanctions

By CHARLES HANLEY
Associated Press Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Ambassador Andrew Young says he favors mandatory United Nations sanctions against South Africa but the Carter administration has not decided yet whether to go that far because of the white South African government's latest crackdown on blacks.

In a Security Council debate that began Monday, black African nations are demanding that the council order a mandatory arms embargo and other stringent international measures against South Africa.

Young, emerging from the first day's debate, replied "Yes" when asked by reporters whether he supports some form of sanctions against the Pretoria government.

But he added: "My role is to describe the situation and possible alternatives (to the White House).... The President and secretary of state will have to decide what sanctions are appropriate in these conditions."

The United States, Britain and France used their vetoes in the Security Council in 1975 to block a mandatory arms embargo against South Africa. However, the U.S. government put an arms cutoff into effect voluntarily.

Young, who met with Carter at the White House earlier Monday to discuss South Africa, hinted the United States would seek a compromise resolution short of a binding arms embargo.

"We're in a good position to come to a draft resolution we could all agree to," he said. "We are still trying to serve as sort of a bridge between East and West."

Young last March managed to fend off the same African resolution, which also calls for a halt to new investment in South Africa. But U.S. diplomatic sources say the situation has changed considerably since then.

"There are a lot of people in Washington saying we can't just dig in our heels and stick with the status quo," said one American.

Last week the Pretoria government outlawed 18 black organizations, shut down two black newspapers and arrested at least 50 leading black critics of its apartheid policy of racial segregation.

Black Africans are also angered by continued South African control of South-West Africa, or Namibia, in defiance of U.N. orders, and by the South African government's refusal to cooperate in the U.N. trade embargo against Rhodesia's white government.

The Rhodesian situation adds another complication to the South African issue for Britain and the United States. They have been trying to get South African Prime Minister John Vorster to pressure Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith into accepting the British-American plan for the transfer of power to the black majority in Smith's war-torn country.

Vorster has said repeatedly that he would not put pressure on Smith and has given no indication that he is urging him to accept the British-American plan.

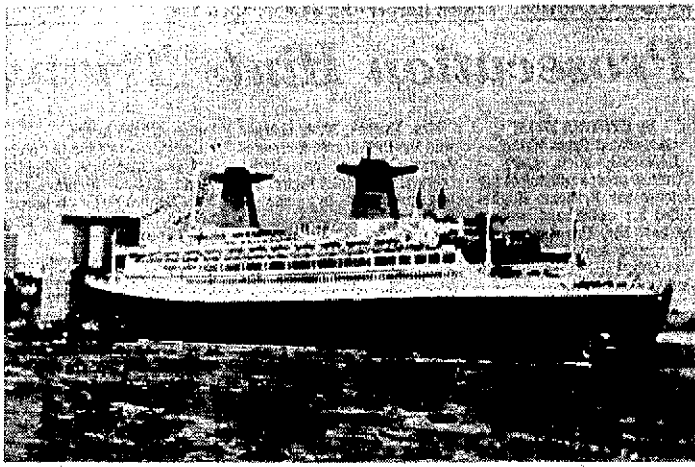

In the floor battle opening today, the Senate faces the choice of new taxes proposed by Carter and passed in reduced form by the House; the more than $40 billion worth of tax incentives approved by the Senate Finance Committee; or a combination of the two.

The Carter administration opposes the finance committee's proposals. But to avoid an anticipated defeat in the full Senate of the new taxes, the President's supporters would like the Senate to quickly approve the committee's bill and let the conference committee write the final legislation.

Even before reaching the Senate floor, the bill produced by the finance committee was under sharp attack. Some senators called it a give-away to the oil industry. Others said the $40 billion price tag over the next eight years would make it difficult to balance the budget and would take money needed for other national programs.

In a study of one of the tax breaks, the Congressional Budget Office said a $200 million tax credit the Senate committee proposed for reduced intensity bus fares and purchases of new buses would produce insignificant energy savings.

But backers of the Senate committee's bill say the full package would reduce U.S. dependence on imported oil by 2.12 million barrels per day by 1985. The measure already passed by the House would reduce consumption by 1.7

Senate Eyes Tax Hikes, Cuts In Writing U.S. Energy Policy

By JIM LUTHER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate, trying to write a national energy policy, is debating whether to raise taxes to force fuel saving or cut them selectively to reward conservation.

How the question is settled in the Senate and in a Senate-House conference committee next month will have long-term effects on the U.S. economy and national security.

In the floor battle opening today, the Senate faces the choice of new taxes proposed by Carter and passed in reduced form by the House; the more than $40 billion worth of tax incentives approved by the Senate Finance Committee; or a combination of the two.

The Carter administration opposes the finance committee's proposals. But to avoid an anticipated defeat in the full Senate of the new taxes, the President's supporters would like the Senate to quickly approve the committee's bill and let the conference committee write the final legislation.

Even before reaching the Senate floor, the bill produced by the finance committee was under sharp attack. Some senators called it a give-away to the oil industry. Others said the $40 billion price tag over the next eight years would make it difficult to balance the budget and would take money needed for other national programs.

In a study of one of the tax breaks, the Congressional Budget Office said a $200 million tax credit the Senate committee proposed for reduced intensity bus fares and purchases of new buses would produce insignificant energy savings.

But backers of the Senate committee's bill say the full package would reduce U.S. dependence on imported oil by 2.12 million barrels per day by 1985. The measure already passed by the House would reduce consumption by 1.7 million to 2.5 million barrels, mainly by making gasoline, natural gas and boiler fuel more expensive and by imposing a stiff tax on inefficient automobiles.

The United States now imports about nine million barrels of oil daily. Carter wants to cut imports to about seven million barrels a day by 1985 to reduce U.S. vulnerability to foreign influences.

As proposed by Carter, the taxes would have been felt by virtually all consumers. But the President proposed that a big share of the taxes be returned to Americans through the income tax system.

Most of the tax cuts proposed by the Senate committee would go to businesses, industries and utilities to help them save energy and to help pay the costs of reducing their use of oil and natural gas.

The biggest tax break would allow the federal government to pay half the costs incurred by plants in converting their oil or coal-fired boilers to coal or other fuel.

The measure also would offer tax credits totaling $3 billion by 1985 for production of energy from exotic sources, such as oil from shale rock and natural gas from ocean brine.

For individuals, the Senate bill would contain a tax cut of up to $400 for a person who buys insulation and other energy-saving devices for his home or apartment, and a credit of up to $2,000 for installing solar heat.

Bar's Suspension Of Lawyer Upheld By State High Court

By ROB WILSON
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The suspension of a lawyer for soliciting cases from workers injured in the 1971 Port Huron tunnel disaster is being upheld by the Michigan Supreme Court.

"The kind of solicitation in this case remains the classic example of 'ambulance chasing,' which exposes the profession and its members to public contempt," the court said in a 4-2 decision Monday.

The state Bar Grievance Board suspended Detroit attorney Leonard C. Jacques for three years in 1976. Jacques appealed the ruling, which was later reaffirmed by the board. Jacques then appealed to the state Supreme Court.

Although the high court upheld rules prohibiting lawyers from soliciting cases, it reduced Jacques' suspension from three years to two years. Jacques has been practicing law while the case was under appeal.

The state Court of Appeals recently overturned a state law barring solicitation of injury cases. But state bar rules still prohibit such solicitation, and violation can result in discipline such as Jacques' penalty.

Jacques argued it was ethical and proper to solicit a class-action suit from members of a laborer's union that had been building the tunnel.

"Although the disciplinary rule permits an attorney to accept employment in a class-action suit, it disapproves personal solicitation by lawyers of specific claims," the court said. "The entire thrust of the disciplinary rules is that it is unprofessional for an attorney to seek out and solicit persons with whom he or she has no pre-existing relationship."

The court added that there is "substantial evidence" that Jacques personally solicited union members and an agent of the union within days after the tunnel explosion. The court also noted that there was strong evidence that Jacques urged the union agent to recommend to him names of persons who were considering legal action.

Chief Justice Thomas Kavanagh and Associate Justice Charles Levin disagreed with the majority of the court. Levin wrote:

"There is no evidence that the business agent passed out any retainer forms or that he solicited or caused anyone to solicit any of the victims' families. The only proper conclusion on this record is that none of the victims' families were solicited as a result of any effort by the union business agent."

Justice Blair Moody agreed that Jacques had acted unethically and unprofessionally, but urged the court to recommend a one-year suspension.

Judge Clears Way For Nude Musical In Birmingham

By SUSAN MARTIN
Associated Press Writer
BIRMINGHAM, Mich. (AP) — City officials don't like it, but the show will go on and the clothes will come off tonight because promoters have won a court battle to stage the nude musical "Oh! Calcutta!" in this affluent Detroit suburb.

U.S. District Judge Lawrence Gubow issued an injunction that blocks city fire officials from enforcing a fire sprinkler code for 10 days. Citations were suddenly slapped against the Birmingham Theatre six days before "Oh! Calcutta!" was to start a six-day, 10-performance run.

The Platt-Michigan Theater Corp., which leases the Birmingham Theatre, sought the injunction after Fire Chief G.E. Nunnelly said the theater could not open unless it installed a sprinkler system and corrected several other fire code violations. The theater renters said it would take at least a month to install the sprinklers and Platt-Michigan also claimed the fire code crack-down actually was an attempt to keep "Oh! Calcutta!" under wraps and off stage.

"Sure I'm surprised," said Nunnelly. "I'm always surprised when somebody rules against my safety."

Nunnelly said the theater was not required to install a sprinkler system earlier because it was not showing live stage productions.

"The difference is that once you put people in costume you have a hazard created backstage in the wardrobe area," he said. "They all use highly flammable sets, people are highly excited and they're smoking and this kind of thing. There is a greater hazard in a stage area."

Nunnelly said he would have taken the same action no matter what performance was scheduled.

Alan R. Miller, attorney for the theater owners, said several stage plays, including "Hansel and Gretel" and "Held," have been presented at the theater since the sprinkler ordinance was enacted in 1963.

"We weren't denying it was on the books, we were just saying that the city had never bothered to enforce it until now," Miller said. "The enforcement of the law now was aimed solely at abridging our constitutional rights in free speech."

A spokesman for "Oh! Calcutta!" said ticket sales for most performances have been brisk.

President Huddles With Saudi

By JAMES GERSTENZANG
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter is meeting with Foreign Minister Saud al-Faisal of Saudi Arabia, a nation rich in oil and Middle East influence, to look for ways to hold down oil prices and reconvene the stalled Geneva peace conference.

However, the Saudi prince is offering discouraging prospects on the cost of imported oil and says he has no new ideas on the central issue of Palestinian representation at the Middle East talks.

The meeting today with Saud is one of a series Carter is holding with Middle East leaders in an effort to reconvene the stalled peace talks.

It was scheduled to follow a breakfast with House and Senate leaders pushing to wind up work on the President's energy program.

The President's agenda also includes signing a bill toughening penalties for doctors and others who are convicted of defrauding Medicare and Medicaid programs.

Although oil prices and the Middle East political situation were likely to be the major points of discussion in the session with the Saudi Arabian prince, Carter and Saud also were expected to talk about the proposed sale of 80 F15 supersonic jet fighters to Saudi Arabia.

Proponents of the sale argue it would help cement ties between the United States and Saudi Arabia, whose economic aid to its Arab neighbors makes it one of the most influential nations in the Middle East. Critics say it violates the President's policy of holding down arms sales.

During an interview, Saud made it clear he favors an increase in the price of oil. Oil prices will be debated in December when the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries meets in Caracas, Venezuela.

"Some price increase would be justified," Saud said. The current price set by the cartel is $12.70 a barrel.

Detroit Foes Let Mud Fly

DETROIT (AP) — Mayor Coleman Young is a greedy politician whose income tax returns may not stand public inspection, says the man who wants Young's job.

Detroit City Councilman Ernest Browne questioned Young's reluctance to reveal his tax returns in a debate between the mayor and the leading contender for the job at the Detroit Economic Club on Monday.

Young, elected in 1974, depicted his challenger as an ignorant city councilman who may not be worthy of a vote for dogcatcher.

Browne, however, jumped on Young's refusal to make public his income tax records. He has issued financial statements to show he is not wealthy, but Young has said repeatedly the actual income tax returns are a private matter.

"Why has Coleman Young failed to produce his income tax statement for the period of years he has occupied the mayor's office," asked Browne. "I presented my income tax statement, where are yours, Mister Mayor?"

Browne said the city "is in the grasp of men who would make it a private state, and each of you will be the slave for their greed, for power and money. Coleman Young is a living symbol of this grasping, I'll-get-mine-no-matter-what-it-costs attitude."

When Browne suggested Young has neglected economic development in Detroit, the mayor responded, "Here again, the councilman speaks from the depths of his ignorance." Earlier in the debate between the candidates, Young said, "A columnist at the (Detroit) Free Press has indicated he (Browne) might be qualified for dogcatcher. I'd have to take that one under advisement."

High Court Backs Boundary Panel

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state Boundary Commission has the power to settle local annexation disputes under a key decision of the state Supreme Court.

The ruling Monday settles a crucial court battle and affects all local governments ensnared in annexation fights.

The high court declared the law establishing the commission is constitutional, upheld its right to refuse referendum votes in certain annexations and approved criteria used in reaching annexation decisions.

Overturning several decisions by the Court of Appeals, the court ruled in a combined case involving annexations at Midland, Novi and Brighton.

But the ruling had more sweeping significance. James Hyde, executive secretary for the boundary commission, said about 35 other recent annexation decisions being challenged in court fall under the Supreme Court's ruling.

In addition, he said, close to 100 more annexation rulings have been approved in recent years without court challenge. If the high court had ruled the suits would be filed to overturn previous decisions.

The Midland case, in which the city annexed a valuable Consumers Power Co. nuclear plant site from Midland Township, was settled later by a 1974 referendum approving the annexation. But the court upheld the commission's decision approving the annexation.

The nuclear plant will provide power to Dow Chemical Co. Placing it in the city would help replace tax revenues lost from the closing of eight Dow power plants and permit the city to cut taxes, the court said.

It also upheld the annexation of land in Brighton Township by the City of Brighton. The Novi case was sent back to the Boundary Commission for further consideration.

Briefly, an annexation case operates as follows:

—A city council, property owners or registered voters in the land to be annexed by the city can request the annexation.

—The issue goes before the five-member Boundary Commission, which makes a decision. If the land to be annexed includes 100 persons or less, the commission's decision is final.

—If the land contains more than 100 persons, a referendum can be requested by residents of the area, residents of the city, or residents of the remaining township.

PBB TAINING GENERAL POPULATION?

More State People To Be Tested

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Armed with new disturbing data on the effects of PBB, medical researcher Dr. Irving Selikoff says he will test 3,000 to 5,000 Michigan residents to see if the poisonous chemical has caused health problems in the state's general population.

Selikoff announced his plans for the new study on Monday after releasing new data showing people who bought food from PBB-contaminated farms were at least as sick as the farmers themselves.

PBB, polybrominated biphenyl, is the chemical fire retardant manufactured by Michigan Chemical Co. of St.

Louis, Mich., accidentally mixed with animal feed in 1973 by Michigan Farm Bureau Services and distributed across the state.

"This brings the level of concern one step closer to Michigan's general population," Selikoff said as he issued new figures based on the results of a survey released in November 1976 of 1,029 Michigan residents.

In sorting out data from the survey of a year ago, the New York medical researcher said it was discovered that a test group of 102 nonfarm residents who had eaten foods bought directly from farms have as many PBB-related health problems as farm residents.

Among the findings:

—52 per cent of the nonfarm residents, compared to 47 per cent of farm residents, had neurological problems such as headaches, blurred vision, dizziness, depression, continual fatigue, changes in perception, nervousness, insomnia, sleepiness, muscle weakness and loss of balance.

—35 per cent of the nonfarm residents, compared to 41 per cent of those living on farms, had musculo-skeletal problems such as pain and swelling of joints and pain in the lower back and legs.

—13 per cent of nonfarm residents, compared to 8 per cent of the farm residents, had chest problems such as persistent coughing, wheezing and tightness.

—25 per cent of the nonfarm residents, compared to 15 per cent of the farm residents, had gastro-intestinal problems, including unexplained weight loss, loss of appetite, nausea, abdominal pains and cramps, diarrhea or constipation.

—34 per cent of the nonfarm residents, compared to 25 per cent of the farm residents, had skin problems such as unexplained rashes, acne, increased sensitivity to light.

New Phase Of BH Schools Trial Starts Wednesday

BY JIM SHANAHAN
City Editor

Phase two of the Benton Harbor schools desegregation suit is scheduled to start at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday in the Federal Building, Kalamazoo.

The trial before U.S. District Judge Noel P. Fox involves 10 defendants and their alleged roles in contributing to segregation in the Benton Harbor School District.

The Benton Harbor School District itself is not on trial in phase two. Judge Fox in August ruled the Benton Harbor Board of Education was "guilty" of creating and perpetuating a racially segregated school system by intentional acts and omissions.

The defendants for phase two are the governor of Michigan, attorney general, state superintendent of schools, State Board of Education, State Boundary Commission, Berrien County Intermediate School District, Coloma School District, Eau Claire School District, Concerned Parents of Eaman School, and Concerned Parents and Taxpayers of Sodus.

Fox' office reported Monday that presentation of the plaintiff's case by the NAACP is expected to take 10 court days.

The first phase of the case took only four days as the Benton Harbor district presented only two witnesses.

James Caudill, director of communications and information for the Benton Harbor district, said Benton Harbor will not be represented by an attorney at phase two, but school administrators will monitor the proceedings.

Fox delayed ordering a remedy to segregation in the Benton Harbor district, pending the outcome of phase two.

Plaintiffs are seeking a court-ordered remedy that could involve cross-district busing or revision of school district boundary lines.

The Benton Harbor Board of Education was the original defendant in the suit filed 10 years ago by the NAACP on behalf of black parents and children. The other 10 defendants were brought in later.

Minister Of Arab Emirates Is Assassinated At Airport

ABU DHABI, United Arab Emirates (AP) — A gunman in a white robe shot and killed a top United Arab Emirates official today and surrendered after trying to hijack a Czechoslovakian cargo plane, authorities reported.

The victim was identified as Saif Ghobash, 35, the No. 2 man in the Foreign Ministry. He was shot while seeing off Syrian Foreign Minister Abdul Halim Khaddam.

Informed sources said Khaddam, who escaped one assassination attempt last December in Damascus, was the real target of the airport gunman.

Reports conflicted on whether there was more than one gunman. Iraqi radio said a "group" took part in the assassination.

Ghobash died at the hospital, an official spokesman said. Sources reported he was hit in the chest and shoulder by the white-robed man who fired a pistol. The gunman was not identified.

After shooting the minister during airport ceremonies for the visiting Syrian official, the gunman took seven persons hostage and forced them into the Czechoslovak cargo plane, which he tried to hijack, the official spokesman said. But he later surrendered, the spokesman said without elaboration.

Kuwait radio had reported earlier that two gunmen were captured after a brief gun battle with police on the airport tarmac.

The airport reopened for air traffic several hours later, indicating that the incident was over.

The assassin was being interrogated by police, officials said.

"Ghobash had no political enemies we know of," one source said. "He was not influential enough to justify this."

Khaddam was not hurt and immediately flew home to Damascus, cutting short a tour of Persian Gulf states. He was wounded in the arm earlier in the year when two gunmen on a motorcycle opened fire on his car. The Syrian government blamed that attack on the Iraqi government.

Reliable sources said Ghobash, 35, died from bullet wounds while being taken to a hospital. First reports had said he was wounded in the arm.

He was Foreign Minister Ahmed Khalifa al Suweidi's deputy and performed many of the foreign minister's ceremonial duties.

Authorities closed the airport to all traffic and barred reporters from the area.

Plan Would Pay Local Units For Land Transfer Tax Losses

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken is proposing a $1 million program Monday to reimburse local units of government for taxes lost through transfer of land to the federal government.

The plan would cover the Sylvania Recreation Area in Gogebic County; Isle Royale National Park in Keweenaw County; Pictured Rocks National Lakeshore in Alger County; the Seney National Wildlife Refuge in Schoolcraft County and Sleeping Bear Dune National Lakeshore in Leelanau and Benzie counties.

The proposal announced Monday would spread payments over a 10-year period, with a 10 per cent reduction each year. The initial payment would be based on the assessed value of all federal land and the property tax rate of each local unit of government.

The state payment would equal that tax figure, minus whatever payments the federal government made under a new program to reimburse local governments for taxes lost.

Under Milliken's proposal, local units would receive the following funds for the various federal areas: Pictured Rocks, $275,000; Sylvania, $165,000; Isle Royale, $50,000; Seney, $200,000; Sleeping Bear, $84,000 in Benzie County and $238,000 in Leelanau County.

Niles Twp. Recall Vote Looks Heavy

NILES — Niles Township Clerk William Barthel said early today that the vote in the township's special recall election today could be heavy. Barthel made the statement based on indications of voter interest from the early turnout as polls opened. Polls are open until 8 p.m. tonight.

The clerk also reported that the state appeals court had turned down an appeal by the board to stop the election. He said the rejection came Monday afternoon. According to Barthel, the court indicated it would hear the appeal of a lower court decision against a board attempt to block the election in December.

The recall effort is aimed against six members of the board, including Barthel, Treasurer M. Sherman Drew, and Trustees Robert Jones, Charles Losensky, James Slover, and James Sullivan.

"We appealed the case because we were charged with something we did not do," Barthel said. He added that even if a final court decision can't help the present board, it could set a standard by which to judge future charges and recall elections of township board members.

A group of Niles Township residents calling themselves the Niles Township Taxpayers' Association successfully circulated petitions that set up the recall election. Among the allegations made against township board members is one that the board allowed implementation of a new property reassessment.

Board members claimed that the supervisor, and not the board, is responsible for the implementation of the new property values. The only township officer not on recall ballots is Supervisor Harry Sideberg who was named to the post earlier this month to fill the vacancy of John Bundy who resigned in August.

Croup Claims Tot In Mount Clemens

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich. (AP) — A 22-month-old boy has died in what officials say is the worst outbreak of croup in at least six years.

A spokesman at Mount Clemens General Hospital said Ryan Fazzalari died early Monday, three weeks after he first developed breathing problems.

Health officials say they have started monitoring croup as a result of the boy's death and an outbreak of serious cases in the Ann Arbor area.

"We haven't seen a severe outbreak with severe symptoms such as we have in Ann Arbor (in the six years) since I've been here," said Norman Hayner, chief epidemiologist with the state Department of Public Health in Lansing. "We don't even keep statistics on it in the health department. But we are in contact with the hospitals to see if there's an excessive increase developing." Croup, which is caused by different types of viruses, is characterized by a raspy cough, noisy or restricted breathing and, in more serious cases, a fever.

Although croup can usually be treated at home, health officials say they are concerned that many of the latest victims have required hospital care because they are so ill.

Doctors at the University of Michigan's Mott Children Hospital reported last week that 20 children from 1 to 7 had been hospitalized there in the past three weeks.

Six had so much trouble breathing that doctors had to insert breathing tubes in their throats to prevent suffocation.

Mount Clemens Hospital had another 20 cases in three weeks, including two in which youngsters needed breathing tubes.

Dr. David Mandy, a staff pediatrician who treated the Fazzalari youth, said "the croup we're seeing this year seems to be more potent. The symptoms are more severe."

Mrs. Fazzalari said Ryan developed "a slight, very slight" cold three weeks ago and woke up one night with a deep wheezing, but no fever.

Doctors inserted a tube to help Ryan breathe, but to no avail. He died because his body could not fight the effects of the illness.

Decatur Fire Loss Is $1,500

DECATUR — Damage from a fire which broke out in a house trailer near here Sunday has been estimated at $1,500.

John Brigham, Decatur fire chief, gave the figure and said the damage at the home of James Moore, 52nd Avenue, was confined to the bathroom and kitchen.

Brigham said the fire was caused by a faulty water heater. The fire chief credited Moore with keeping the fire under control with a fire extinguisher until firemen arrived.

Moore, his wife and their two children escaped injury, the chief said.

Deductions Get Nod In Paw Paw

PAW PAW — The Paw Paw Village Council agreed Monday night to allow payroll deductions for village employees who want to join the new Van Buren Governmental Employees Credit Union.

Norman G. Rushing, credit union president, told the council that the organization will begin making loans to members after the first of the year. He said the credit union presently has 71 accounts.

The credit union is open to all governmental employees in the county except Postal Service employees.

In other areas, the council presented Shirley Jackson with a plaque in recognition for her 10 years on the village housing commission. Mrs. Jackson, who is also a county commissioner, resigned her post on the housing commission.

Harry Bush, superintendent of public works, reported that village workers will remove debris from Maple Lake as the level of the lake begins returning to normal. The water level had been dropped while repairs were made to the dam at the north end of the lake.

'ENDURE IT' WRONG ATTITUDE He'd Brighten Wintertime

By KAREN A. MILLS
Associated Press Writer
MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The skaters in bright reds and yellows whirl in circles on a downtown ice rink during the lunch hour in midwinter.

Racks of cross-country skis stand outside the brick department store, ready for shoppers and employees to begin the afternoon trek home.

Vendors selling steaming mugs of grog do a bustling business along the evergreen-lined main street mall.

It's not a 19th Century small-town scene from a holiday greeting card. It's how Professor William C. Rogers would like Minnesota's biggest city to look in the year 2000.

Minneapolis, with a half-million people and an average January temperature of 17, is the coldest big city in the United States.

Rather than merely endure the frigid climate, the University of Minnesota professor says residents should turn it into an asset.

"In America's northern cities, people live through the winter, but there has been no effort to make the cities more attractive in winter," said
Rogers, a 28-year resident of Minneapolis who heads the city's Committee on Urban Environment.

The committee has embarked on a campaign to change attitudes and give the city a new look for that snow-covered time between November and April.

"One day last winter I was in downtown Minneapolis and looked out over the parking lots, and everything looked dark and gray," Rogers said.

"I thought, it doesn't have to be that way."

Thus began the committee's work on making winter a more interesting and attractive time.

"The whole campaign is educational. If people know how to make things more attractive, they usually will try to do so," Rogers said.

"Color is very important. We should be replacing trees that are dying of Dutch elm disease with evergreens to give us a contrast to the winter snow.
Dogwood is also a good choice because of its red twigs.

"Birds can be attracted by plants with seeds and berries and by heated birdbaths. More birds die from thirst in the winter than starvation. Cardinals and blue jays obviously enhance the winter city.

"These are ways private citizens can work on their own to change the winter scene."

Rogers said he would suggest that the city's bicycle paths be converted for the use of cross-country skiers during the winter, and would like to see brightly-colored winter fish houses on city lakes.

More use of brick and wood, rather than glass, concrete and white plaster, might make the northern city look warmer, he said.

"Every architect who builds a building should think about what it will look like in the winter," Rogers said.

Minneapolis already has made some changes to make residents feel better during the winter. Many of the buildings in the city's downtown shopping area are connected by heated skyways. And for those who prefer to walk outside, trees along the main mall are

PROF. WILLIAM ROGERS
Winter Is Beautiful?

covered with tiny lights which twinkle gaily at night and on overcast days.

"A lot of people just think nothing can be done about winter," Rogers said. "What if we had taken that attitude toward summer? We'd never have invented the air conditioner."

Liquor Commission Sets Hearings For 6 Taverns

KALAMAZOO — Hearings on alleged liquor law violations involving six Berrien County taverns will be held here Oct. 31 and Nov. 2, according to the Michigan Liquor Control Commission.

Ira C. Williams, owner of the East End Bar and Grill, 995 E.
Main St., Benton Harbor, is charged with allowing the establishment to be occupied after the legal hour, according to a violation report filed with the commission by Benton Township police.

A.L.A., Inc., owner of Mr. K's Restaurant, Niles, is charged with selling liquor to a minor and allowing a minor to consume liquor, according to Niles police.

Hearings on those alleged violations are scheduled for Oct.

Four hearings are scheduled for Nov. 2.

Theresa Reth, Route 1, Box 896, Watervliet, is charged with selling alcohol on premises which were leased to people other than the liquor license holder. Other charges include allegedly obtaining a liquor license for the use of people whose names did not appear on the license and making alterations in the premises without MLCC consent. The charges stem from incidents between March 14 and 18 and the charges were filed by an MLCC investigator.

Paul and Ramona Stephens, owners of the Depo Lounge, 103-105 Main St., Gallen, are charged with purchasing alcoholic beverages from a source other than a state authorized liquor store. The charges, filed by an MLCC investigator, stem from an incident in 1975.

Ingier Enterprises, Inc., owner of H's Saloon, 214 State St., St.
Joseph, is charged with allowing alcohol sold for consumption on the premises to be taken from the premises. The charges stem from an incident in May, according to a report filed by St.
Joseph police.

Fredrick Alisch, owner of Freddy's, 39 N. Whittaker Ave.,
New Buffalo, is charged with selling alcoholic beverages to a minor, selling to an intoxicated person and allowing intoxicated people to loiter. The charges, filed by New Buffalo police, stem from an incident reported in May.

DILEMMA SEEN — Israel is

Florida Boy, 16 Gets Chair

SEBRING, Fla. (AP) — A 16-year-old boy who was convicted of stomping an elderly widow to death in a $6 robbery has been sentenced to die in the electric chair. Frank Ross Jr. of DeSoto City, Fla., stood calmly and said nothing Monday as 10th Circuit Judge Clifton Kelly imposed the death penalty for the Nov. 15, 1976, murder of 64-year-old Helen Dixon of Avon Park. A six-man, six-woman jury had convicted Ross of first degree murder in February. The same jury deliberated only 17 minutes Monday before recommending the death penalty. Highlands County Assistant Public Defender Nick Chommer said an appeal is automatic when a death penalty is imposed. Judge Kelly said he would forward the sentence to the Florida Supreme Court for review, another automatic procedure.

Eskimos Vow Whale Hunt

BARROW, Alaska (AP) — An Eskimo leader says that when the spring thaws come and bowhead whales appear near the North Slope shores, Eskimo whalers will go on their traditional hunt. The International Whaling Commission's ban on hunting the endangered bowhead went into effect Monday night. Biologists think there may be as few as 600 and no more than about 2,000 surviving bowheads. Last week, Judge John Sirica ordered the State Department to use its privilege to file a formal objection to the ban. But on Monday a Washington, D.C., federal appeals court and then U.S. Supreme Court Chief Justice Warren Burger vacated Sirica's ruling, leaving the whaling ban intact. "We'll go ahead and proceed with our scheduled whaling season come spring, despite a ban. That's our only story," said Mayor Eben Hopson of Alaska's North Slope Borough.

Name Change Irks Ohioan

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Ohio congressman says Alaska is trying to deal a low blow to one of his state's favorite sons, stripping William McKinley's name from North America's highest peak. But Alaskans maintain the mountain was Denali. The Great One, long before a wandering prospector had the temerity to attach the name of a flatlander politician, a name chosen partly in a fit of revenge. The dispute involves the 20,320-foot Alaska mountain which has borne McKinley's name for 81 years. Alaska wants its historic name restored. Rep. Ralph S. Regula, R-Ohio, says it would be "an affront to the presidency and to the memory of William McKinley" to rename the mountain.

Dole Acts Like Candidate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bob Dole, flying to speaking engagements around the country and moving to the forefront of the Panama Canal treaty controversy, acts like he's still Gerald Ford's running mate. But Dole, no longer interested in being anyone's No. 2, is thinking of 1980 and a run for the White House. "I'd be less than honest if I said I didn't know 1980 was coming up," the Kansas senator commented in an interview in his Senate office. "We've been active, I can't deny that," he says when asked what he's up to. With public opinion polls showing President Carter could be vulnerable, Dole is one of several Republicans showing an unusually early interest in the race.

Adams Returns Color TVs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Transportation Secretary Brock Adams doesn't feel all his top aides should have color televisions — and he's making sure they get the picture. Adams recently ordered the return of 12 new sets costing $375 each, although government regulations permit high officials to have color televisions in their offices. "Adams found out and said, 'We don't need them,'" according to David Jewell, the department's chief spokesman. "He's against redecorating in general." Asked in a telephone interview Monday why the sets were needed, Jewell replied, "I don't know the answer. I really don't."

Panama Vote A Defeat?

PANAMA CITY, Panama (AP) — Panamanian leader Gen. Omar Torrijos says he is content with his people's 66 per cent "yes" vote for the new Panama Canal treaties. But opponents of Torrijos' authoritarian rule say the size of the "no" vote is encouraging to their campaign for a return to democratic government. An unofficial count of 93 per cent of the votes in Sunday's plebiscite, announced Monday night by Contriller General Damian Castillo, showed 468,604 in favor of the treaties, 228,697 against, more than 12,000 invalid ballots, and a turnout of 96 to 98 per cent of the estimated 800,000 persons eligible to vote. Castillo, who headed the election board, said Torrijos told him he was "content with the turnout and the results." Other government officials said the vote for approval was a "bit less" than the 70 per cent they had hoped for.

Klan Going Ahead With Patrol

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The Knights of the Ku Klux Klan say they're going ahead with plans to patrol the Mexican border to help plug the flow of illegal aliens into the United States. Unarmed klansmen will start their border watch today in marked cars from Brownsville, Tex., to the Pacific Coast. Klan officials said, David Duke of Metairie, La., Grand Dragon of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, vowed two weeks ago that klansmen would act as spotters, reporting illegal crossings in the U.S. Border Patrol. Duke claimed the border guards could not cope with the volume of aliens. According to Klan spokesman Tom Metzger, Klan members plan to patrol in marked cars and radio illegal crossings to the group's "command post." Then federal officials will be informed, Metzger said.

New City Hall In Hartford To Open On Nov. 1

HARTFORD — The Hartford City Council Monday night voted to make Nov. 1 the date when 19 W. Main St. formally becomes the Hartford City Hall.

The former A & P Grocery Store that the city bought for $27,000 last year from Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ament has been undergoing some renovation in preparation for the transfer of city offices from the building it now rents.

The council Monday night voted to spend up to $2,100 for carpet, and its installation at the new city hall, and to buy proper entrance door hardware that will meet fire safety codes.

In other areas, the council postponed until its next meeting a decision on whether to hire a second person to help run the city's new sewer treatment plant now under construction.

Thomas Doneau, an engineer with the Wightman & Associates, St. Joseph, the city's consultants for the sewer construction, told the council that sufficient and qualified personnel must be hired to run the plant by the time construction is 50 percent completed.

That construction stage will probably be reached in December or January, he told the council.

Hiring of an additional plant operator was referred to the city's finance committee.

As a precautionary action, the council reaffirmed all action it took at its Oct. 10 meeting after Ellsworth Smith, a Hartford resident, suggested from the floor Monday night that council action of that night might be illegal. He said the council actions might be illegal because the council met on a holiday, Columbus Day, a violation of the city charter.

The council reaffirmed its actions without admitting its Oct. 10 meeting might have been in violation of the charter.

The council also authorized the payment of $37 to Donald Lightfoot Jr. for alleged damage done to his calculators while the city was thawing out some water pipes next door to his business last winter. Lightfoot had maintained that the city work caused a power overload, which in turn damaged some of his machines at his place of business, 513 E. Main St.

The council authorized further inquiry into a federal grant that would pay about 70 percent of the estimated $16,430 cost for replacing street signs in the city. The city would have to pick up the other 30 percent of the cost.

School Budget Cuts Approved At New Buffalo

NEW BUFFALO — The New Buffalo School Board in a special session Monday night approved budget cuts amounting to $55,841 and then adopted the revised 1977-78 budget of $1,763,028.

The new budget is up just $19,119 from the 1976-77 budget.

The cuts were made from a proposed budget presented to the board last week which showed expenditures of $1,818,870 with revenues projected at $1,768,935, or a difference of $49,935.

The $55,841 in cuts were approved in a 6-1 vote with Dr. Benedict D'Amato, board president, casting the lone dissenting vote. He said more should be cut from the budget. Voting in favor of the cuts were George Calnin, Howard Covert, Caryl Rabe, Leo Mundt, Ronald Oselka and Ronald NeNardo.

Biggest of the cuts was the elimination of the school's outside cleaning service as of Oct. 28. According to board figures, that will result in a reduction of $29,559.

Among the reductions are personnel cuts that include eliminating a social science teacher as of Jan. 20; reducing the school social worker and nurse to half-time and eliminating two lunchroom supervisors and a custodian.

Also to be eliminated are the junior varsity baseball program, fifth and sixth grade basketball and junior high softball. The driver education program's behind the wheel training is also to be eliminated.

In the only other action, the board adopted a state policy allowing free and reduced price hot lunches to qualified students.

Dies In Crash

MANILA, The Philippines (AP) — Medical corpsman Steven Richard Dolan of Eugene, Ore., was identified today as the only U.S. Navy man killed in last week's helicopter crash fatal to 24 servicemen.

The other 23 who died when the helicopter went down on the central Philippine island of Mindoro were Marines, a Navy spokesman said. He said their identities are being withheld until relatives are notified.

Hartford School Budget Shows Rise Of $95,190

HARTFORD — The Hartford School Board Monday night approved a 1977-78 budget of $1,952,138, some $95,190 over the 1976-77 school year budget of $1,856,190.

The budget is to be financed through $1,763,345 in expected revenues and a near $300,000 reserve fund. According to figures from Superintendent Gary Waterkamp $188,000 of the reserve will be needed to meet the budget.

Voters in the district twice this year defeated property tax rate increases sought by the board.

Waterkamp told the board that revenues in the coming year will include $575,470 from current local property taxes, about $1.1 million from state aid and another $80,000 plus from various other sources, including an estimated $65,000 in delinquent property taxes.

The board in August set the operating millage at 22.58 mills, the same as last year.

It also cut 3½ teaching positions and trimmed back athletic expenditures to cut projected expenses by $40,000.

In other areas, the board appointed Mrs. Angela Stair to the district's special education advisory committee, and appointed Paul Tate as the school's Indian home-school coordinator, a part-time position that pays $24.60 per day.

Area Crashes Hospitalize 2

A Lincoln Township woman and a Coloma man were both reported in "good" condition in area hospitals this morning after they were injured in separate traffic accidents Monday night.

St. Joseph Township police said Vicki Jo Blevins, 27, of 4419 Red Arrow Highway, Lincoln Township, suffered spinal injuries and was admitted to Memorial Hospital after a 6:45 p.m. two-car accident at the intersection of Hollywood Road and Maiden Lane.

Patrolman Kevin Kramp reported the injured woman was a passenger in a car driven by Callie Fern Stalorites, 18, of 4138 First Ave., Stevensville, which was involved in a collision with a second auto driven by Deborah Hudson, 17, of 3806 Arlington, St. Joseph Township. Callie Stalorites was treated at Memorial after the accident, according to Kramp, and Deborah Hudson, who was not injured, was ticketed for failure to yield the right of way.

Berrien Sheriff's Deputy Dan Gustafson reported Ernest Dale Howell, 21, of 7268 Williams, Coloma, was injured at 7:30 p.m. Monday while riding a motorcycle.

Howell, who was not wearing a helmet at the time of the accident, was admitted to Watervliet Community Hospital with a head injury, Gustafson said.

Gustafson said Howell reported an unidentified auto pulled in front of him as he was turning around on M-140 near Dan Smith Road, Watervliet Township.

UNIONISTS MEET

Short Work Week Push Gains Steam

DETROIT (AP) — Labor leaders from some of the country's most powerful unions met today in what may be the first phase of a nationwide push for a shorter work week.

United Auto Workers Union leader Frank Russell told representatives of 50 major localities that a reduced work week was "an economic necessity." If the nation hoped to curb high unemployment.

"It is our position that it would be cheaper to employ these people than to pay for their unemployment," said Russell, president of Local 22, a 10,000-member local of Cadillac workers.

The meeting included representatives of the United Steelworkers, United Mine Workers, Retail Workers, Machinists, Longshoremen, Electrical Workers and others.

Russell said backers of the shorter work week would not propose a specific number of hours at this time.

"The labor movement has spent too much time arguing over how many hours should constitute a shorter work week and not enough time on the principle that a shorter work week would be good," he said.

Bullfighting Bill Flops

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — When Rep. Charlie Harrison introduced a bill to legalize bullfighting in Michigan, the public raged like a bull incited by a red cape. Now Harrison is backing off. Letters and telephone calls opposing the idea flooded his office, prompting him to withdraw the bill Monday — less than two weeks after it was offered. Withdrawing legislation is almost unheard of, but the Pontiac Democrat said the public's reaction was too strong to go ahead with it. "I have received numerous telephone calls and letters from citizens all over the state," Harrison said. "The sentiment of nearly all callers and writers has been negative to the idea of bullfighting in this state, even on a limited basis where the bull would not be harmed." Promoters had suggested holding the bullfights at the Silverdome in Pontiac.

Priest Facing Arraignment

FARMINGTON, Mich. (AP) — A Roman Catholic priest faces arraignment Nov. 10 on charges that he molested a 14-year-old boy, but another sex charge against Father Gary Berthiaume of Farmington is being dropped. Berthiaume, 35, of Our Lady of Sorrows Church, was arrested last month and charged with second-degree criminal sexual conduct in the case involving the 14-year-old youth. Arraignment will be before Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Alice Gilbert. A second sex charge against the priest, involving a 13-year-old youth, was dismissed Monday by Farmington District Judge Michael Hand. The preliminary examinations on both charges were held in the judge's chambers and excluded reporters and the public. Berthiaume was ordered held for trial after the 2½-hour hearing and attorneys were not allowed to discuss the case.

Tools Taken From Truck In Buchanan

BUCHANAN — The owner of City Glass and Radiator, Inc., 205 Dewey St., Buchanan, told city police here Monday that a tool box containing tools valued at between $300 and $500 was taken from one of the firm's trucks.

Boyd Nutting told police the tool box was taken from the bed of a truck parked next to the firm between early Sunday night and Monday morning.

Man Asks Hearing In Berrien

Don Nunez, Berrien Springs, demanded examination Saturday in Berrien Fifth District Court on a charge of receiving and concealing stolen property valued at more than $100.

Nunez, 22, of 1603 Sunset Court, was released on a $2,500 personal recognizance bond set at the arraignment before Judge Leo Cook.

The charge stems from the June 10 theft of a citizens band radio and a ham radio from the car of W.C. Earl, Andrews University, Berrien Springs. A warrant for the arrest was issued after Wayne Woodhams, station manager of WAUS radio, said a man said his radio had been identified as Earl's, according to Berrien Springs-Oronoko Township Police Chief Victor Yost. Woodhams told police a man came to his house with the radio.

Candidate Requests Protection

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — Dearborn mayoral candidate Frank Hubbard wants state police protection for his election campaign because vandals damaged six vehicles outside one of his fund-raising parties.

Hubbard said Monday he will ask Gov. William Milliken for the state police because he did not believe Dearborn police can provide adequate protection.

Two of the cars belonged to members of Hubbard's family and one of the six was so badly damaged Saturday night outside a Dearborn hall that it had to be towed away, the mayoral candidate said.

Hubbard said it took police cars 20 minutes to respond to the vandalism after it was reported, although several police cars were in the city parking lot earlier in the evening behind the hall where the fund-raiser was held.

Dearborn Police Inspector Robert Vanha, however, said it took police cars just three minutes to arrive.

Hubbard finished a poor second to former Dearborn police chief John B. O'Reilly in the September primary. Hubbard said he does not blame O'Reilly for the vandalism. Instead, the mayoral candidate pinned the blame on unnamed "terrorists" and members of an unidentified "outside element" trying to take control of Dearborn.

About two weeks ago, the car of a Hubbard campaign worker was slightly damaged when it was firebombed outside of a campaign office.

Rep. Myers Quitting Congress

he'll be doing when he returns. Whatever it is, he faces a hefty salary cut, to less than half the $57,500 he makes as a congressman.

Myers ignored tips from political pros to slowly work his way up the ranks — from local elective office, to the state legislature, to the Congress.

"You just don't have to wait, or go through training," said Myers, pointing to his own career. He ran for the House in 1972 and lost, but tried again and won a seat for 1975.

Myers also vows never to seek another political position, comparing his two terms in Congress to a tour of military duty. "Once it's over, it's time to move on," he said.

"There are tens of thousands of people across the country" who have the intelligence to serve successfully in Congress or the Oval Office, the soft-spoken engineering graduate said.

But most, he said, lack the confidence or desire to run for office.

Myers feels Congress is filled with people of all kinds.

"There's no super race that we can look to in our communities from which we can select people to represent us in politics," the boyish-looking congressman said.

Myers has a mechanical engineering degree from the University of Cincinnati and a master's degree in business administration from the University of Pittsburgh.

Slaying Suspect Arrested In BH

Odis R. Harris, 23, was reported arrested Monday in Benton Harbor on a warrant charging him with open murder in the fatal shooting Oct. 16 of Kenneth Hughes, 27, in Benton Township.

Benton Township detective Lt. Jack Drach said Harris surrendered voluntarily about 4 p.m. Monday and was to be arraigned today in Fifth District Court.

Drach said Harris was taken into custody by Benton Harbor Patrolman Art Bell. Drach said Harris reported he had been living in varied places, but listed an address of his mother at 1040 Columbus Ave., Benton Harbor. No weapon was found, Drach said.

Benton Harbor police said

Harris was picked up by Bell in the 1000 block of Columbus. Police said Bell was working on the case and had been in contact with Harris' mother.

Township police said Hughes, of 841 Pasadena Ave., Benton Harbor, was fatally shot outside the East End Bar and Grill, 895 E. Main street, in the township. Police said witnesses reported that Hughes argued with another man inside the bar. Police said witnesses reported that Hughes and the other man went outside where five or six shots were heard.

Fifth District Judge Ronald J. Taylor last week issued a warrant charging Harris with open murder.

POLICE ROUNDUP

Trio Robs Woman In Her Own Home

Three young men invaded the home of a 55-year-old Benton Harbor woman Monday night and robbed her of $40 before locking her in the basement of the house and fleeing, according to city police.

Patrolman John Pagel said Mrs. Margaret C. Howard, of 893 Columbus Ave., told them she was pushed to the floor as the intruders forced their way into her home when she answered her door bell about 7:45 p.m.

Mrs. Howard she gave the men $40 after they demanded money and then was forced into the basement and the door was locked behind her, according to Pagel.

A tape player from the auto of Vicki Blevins, also of 4419 Red Arrow Highway, while her car was parked at that address.

Officers reported they are investigating possible connections between the Jarceles from the Jordan and Blevins cars.

Benton Harbor police said Mary Louise Graham, of 532 Territorial Road, told them a tape player and tapes, a watch and a punch bowl valued at a total of $232 were stolen from her home Sunday.

City police reported Lonnie Jones, of 537 Columbus Ave., said an AM-FM stereo receiver valued at $200 was stolen from his home late Sunday or early Monday.

Berrien Sheriff's officers said Carl Jones of 478 E. Marquette Woods Road, Lincoln Township, reported two windows were broken and body panels dented on his auto which he left parked on Marquette Woods west of Lincoln Avenue, between 8:30 p.m. Sunday and 9:30 a.m. Monday. Jones told police the car had broken down Sunday.

St. Joseph police reported Richard Freer, executive director of Link Crisis Intervention Center, 2002 S. State St., told them an unknown object was shot through the windshield of a Link van parked on the north-west side of the center's State Street office between Friday and Monday afternoons.

Value of the windshield was estimated at $175, according to police. A nightsheet was believed used by the vandals.

In a second vandalism report, St. Joseph police said a number of pumpkins were smashed in front of Schneek's Super Market, 810 W. Napier Ave., early Monday morning. Officers on patrol discovered the smashed pumpkins at 4:45 a.m.

Benton Harbor police reported they were investigating the apparent stabbing of a man in the area of Territorial Road and Fifth Street Monday night.

Patrolman James Hartman said Pleasant Jasper Hurst, 55, of 272 Bellview, Benton Harbor, was found on a sidewalk near the intersection at 8:15 p.m. by officers on routine patrol. Hurst was bleeding from a number of wounds on his left calf and was taken by ambulance to Mercy Hospital where he was treated and released, Hartman said.

Hartman reported Hurst told police he was attacked in an alley but was unable to say how his leg was cut.

Officers said they questioned employees of two bars near the scene of the apparent stabbing and were told Hurst had been involved in two quarrels earlier in the evening and was seen leaving Wall's Ideal Bar, 212 Territorial, with a man and a woman shortly before he was found by police.

Buchanan Commission Fires Its Law Firm; Manager Will Retire

By JOHN DYE
South Berrien Bureau

BUCHANAN — The pending retirement of City Manager Robert Faulhaber was announced and the city's long-time legal firm was fired after it submitted its resignation, at Monday night's Buchanan City Commission meeting.

While the commission voted 3-1 to fire the resigning legal firm of Desenberg, Desenberg and Marrs immediately, Faulhaber could remain at the city helm as long as a year, according to Mayor Richard Gault, who announced the retirement.

Both developments came on the heels of a special Oct. 17 commission session in which both Faulhaber and a controversial downtown improvement project were criticized.

Faulhaber, who was named city manager in July, 1968, declined to comment on the retirement announcement. Mayor Gault said no specific date for the retirement had been set, but added he and Faulhaber were "speaking generally in terms of a year." Faulhaber is 61.

The mayor said after the session Faulhaber first approached him about the retirement on Oct. 18, one day after several heated blasts were leveled at Faulhaber during the Oct. 17 meeting over his handling of the downtown project.

On the law firm dismissal, B. R. Desenberg, senior partner in the law firm which has represented the city for nearly 40 years, first submitted a letter of resignation to the commission, and then Commissioner Reginald Bellaire sought to delay action on accepting it until the next commission meeting.

Bellaire failed to gain support for his move and Commissioner Mildred Anderson then said: "I MOVE, THAT IN THE BEST INTEREST OF THE CITY OF BUCHANAN, the legal representation of the City of Buchanan by the law firm of Desenberg, Desenberg and Marrs be terminated effective with the adjournment of this meeting, with recognition of its long service to the community."

Mrs. Anderson this morning said the commission did not act on the letter of resignation, and that it was the commission's intent to "fire" the firm — "much as I hate to see that term blasted all over the headlines."

She said this morning the commission members had discussed the matter before the meeting and had agreed that they would terminate the verbal agreement under which the firm was retained. She added that as far as she knew there never had been a written contract with the city's counsel.

This morning B.R. Desenberg, asked if he considered the firm had been fired or had resigned, said: "I guess it doesn't matter. It just seems to be a matter of 'I quit. No, you're fired.'"

Desenberg added that the firm members had decided on Sept. 9 to resign, and had talked individually to members of the commission, but had never heard any response from the commission until the prepared agenda for the commission meeting showed the matter of the city's legal representation was to be reviewed last night.

"We certainly wouldn't have resigned if we didn't have abundant reasons, which we may bring to light later. In many things we were not consulted, and our advice was taken only on infrequent occasions," Desenberg said this morning.

Voting yes on the motion to terminate the law firm were Mrs. Anderson, Gault and Bennett Jensen. Bellaire cast the lone no vote. He also voted no in a 3-1 tally to name the Niles firm of Klute, Stone and Campbell as interim legal counsel for the city. Commissioner Gene Wesner was absent. In the letter to the commission offering their resignation, the three partners in the firm, B.R. Desenberg, his son Louis, and Michael Marrs, said it was apparent after the Oct. 17 special session, "...that a hopelessly fractionated situation with political implications was developing."

The letter added "...we felt we would be regarded as being entirely in accord with its (the city administration) actions. The position of the administration in certain matters was untenable..."

Members of the law firm, all three of whom attended the session, declined to comment further after the session.

In addition to the controversial downtown project, the city has also become embroiled in a suit to block construction of a proposed south Berrien county courthouse in Niles and has assessed property in the city $2 million less than state and county officials said it should be.

In another development in the downtown project, Gault said after the meeting that he still hoped easements to permit construction could be obtained without the city proceeding to condemn several tracts of land along Front Street. Gault said that Keith Welsh, a merchant who rents a Front Street building, and Mark Treat, owner of the building, had agreed to go along with the improvement project if several conditions were met. Those conditions included insuring proper drainage around the Stationary Center building and setting paving bricks on the sidewalk in front of the store in cement instead of sand.

In other areas, a request from Joseph Bachman, public works superintendent, that he be permitted to enter a retirement program for city employees was withdrawn by Bachman. A former Buchanan mayor and city commission member, he had asked that he be granted service credit for the 13 years he held public office.

Also last night, the commission voted to permit burning leaves from Oct. 26 until Nov. 8. Faulhaber said leaves may not be burned on city streets.

Coloma High Will Send Two

JAN KOENIGSHOF

DONALD ARENT

COLOMA — Two Coloma High School seniors, Jan Koenigshof and Donald Arent, have been selected as representatives of the school to attend a week-long President Classroom program in Washington, D.C., in February. Announcement of their selection by the faculty and the senior class was made by William Smith high school assistant principal.

Miss Koenigshof is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Koenigshof, 4050 Kerlikowske Road, Coloma. Arent is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norris Arent, 6650 Hill Road, Coloma. Both are 17 years old. The two representatives were chosen on the basis of their academic achievement, attitude, and ability to relate their experience to others upon their return from the nation's capital, Smith said.

During the seminar, which starts February 11, students are given the opportunity to see government in action and to talk with government officials, according to Smith. The one-week program, according to Smith, costs $275 plus transportation. Donations to support the program are now being sought from interested area individuals and businesses.

Smith said further information may be obtained by contacting him at the high school, Monday through Friday. The Presidential Classroom program is sponsored by a private, non-profit organization of the same name, according to Smith, and is to give students a firsthand experience with government operations.

CETA's Job-Holding Record Is Poor, County Director Says

By RALPH LUTZ
Staff Writer

The federal Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) was enacted by Congress in 1973 as a locally controlled job training effort, but "has mushroomed into a federally controlled employment agency," Weldon Burden, Berrien County CETA director, said Monday.

Burden predicted that CETA would remain in one form or another for many years and added:

"The federal government will be the employer, and we're going to be more socialistic, unfortunately."

Burden described CETA operations at a Twin City Rotary Club meeting at St. Joseph Elks Lodge.

He said the transition from CETA-funded training to full-time jobs has been mostly in the public sector. He said the retention of employees in both public and private sector jobs hasn't shown a good track record.

Asked for percentages by a Rotarian, Burden said 10 to 15 per cent have remained in public service jobs after placement. He said it should be at least 50 per cent.

Burden said he didn't know percentages of those in private firms, "but it's known that it's not as good as it should be."

In Berrien County, CETA began in 1974 with a budget of $700,000, Burden said. He said the current budget is $11 million that must be spent by Sept. 30, 1978, or funds would go elsewhere.

How to spend the money is a problem, Burden said, referring to lack of federal proposals and changing regulations. "We've fixed up about every park, painted public buildings and renovated public buildings," Burden said.

The paperwork required by Burden's office was termed "ridiculous." He said his administrative staff had seven people two years ago and has increased to 23. He said the administrative budget will be $430,000 next year.

Burden is a native of Berrien County and lives at Sawyer. He served 20 years in the Air Force as a test pilot and for two years as vice president of the Bank of Three Oaks. For one year, he was with the Twin Cities Area Chamber of Commerce as an assistant small business director.

Burden said CETA's roots go back to the depression years of the 1930's and a host of social employment programs, including WPA and CCC. The evolution proceeded through more recent acts of Congress, including the Emergency Employment Act of 1971.

CETA was originally based on the need for more local control of federal funds, Burden said. The reason was the local governments know best what local problems are in unemployment. Berrien County government was named sponsor for CETA in the county in 1974.

Burden said CETA-funded employees must be paid the prevailing minimum wage, while the maximum paid is $10,000 a year. He said Congress may raise the maximum to $12,000 next year. The pay hinges on the job.

Burden said nationwide, there now are 725,000 people on CETA jobs. He said this will increase to 1.4 million soon and possibly to 2.1 million by fiscal 1981.

Burden said last year, Berrien County had 700 people in CETA jobs, which brought the county's unemployment rate down by 1 per cent.

As to on-the-job training with private firms, Burden said CETA picks up half the wage costs during training, with the firms paying the other half. In theory, when the employee is trained for a job, he would remain with the firm as a full time employee, with the firm paying all wages.

Burden said Congress probably will continue taking away local control more each year, Burden said CETA expires next summer, but is expected to be extended in basically its same form for another year. Burden said CETA in years ahead may be merged with the Unemployment Service to avoid duplication of job placement work.

CETA funds are distributed on the basis of local unemployment and population employment needs. Burden said only California and New York states rank ahead of Michigan in funds received.

Crackdown Nets 36 Tickets In Courthouse Parking Lot

BY NICK SMITH
Staff Writer

Thirty-six tickets were issued yesterday in the Berrien County Courthouse parking lot during the first day of a crackdown against parking violators, according to the county employee who issued the tickets.

Frank Lenz, assistant superintendent of maintenance deputized to issue tickets in the courthouse lot, said he usually writes 10 to 15 tickets daily.

Except for one attorney he knows was ticketed, he said he couldn't confirm courthouse rumors that other attorneys, police officers in unmarked cars and courthouse workers were issued citations.

He said "I just ticketed every car parked illegally."

The action prompted a statement from one of the people ticketed, Rose Griesmeyer, recorder-secretary for Berrien District Court, said:

"It is my hope that the county will consider providing assigned parking for all county employees. At present we (courthouse employees) are encountering increased difficulty locating available parking in the courthouse lot. The lot across the street from the sheriff's department (also for courthouse employees) is less than satisfactory since it requires re-entry into heavy traffic flow and becomes especially hazardous during the winter months when the pavement is icy."

The crackdown on parking violators was ordered by county officials, Lenz said, because the parking lot is overcrowded. Monday's tickets were for violations including parking in traffic lanes, in spots for "police vehicles only," over the yellow line and for violating the one-hour parking limit on the Port Street side of the lot, Lenz said.

From now on, Lenz will go out each hour looking for parking violators, he said. He is enforcing a county ordinance about parking, he said. Violators must pay a $2 fine or, if they pay the ticket more than five days after it's issued, $3, he said. After 10 days, District Court warrants are issued and fines increase, Lenz added.

St. Joseph police are enforcing at the courthouse a new state law that prohibits non-handicapped people parking in spaces reserved for the handicapped. The department reported no tickets were issued yesterday. There are two spaces reserved for handicapped in back of the courthouse.

Big Plays Key Chiefs' Grid Success

By JACK WALKDEN
Staff Sports Writer
DOWAGIAC — Explosive! Electrifying! Call it what you will.

But the big play has been an important element in the success of Dowagiac's football team.

"Our ability to make the big play in the last few games has really been the key," Dowagiac coach Russ Barnes says. "Most of our games have been close early. But we'll break a long one and be able to get the job done after that."

The Chiefs have won four straight for a 5-2 record. But Dowagiac is just two points away from being 7-0. Barnes' crew lost heartbreaking 20-19 and 8-7 decisions to Detroit St. Martin dePorres and Edwardsburg, respectively.

Dowagiac is averaging 306 yards per game (third best in southwestern Michigan) and of its 21 touchdowns, 11 have come on plays covering at least 20 yards.

"I can't really single out one player," Barnes says. "The kids have shared the load. Our ability to score on the long run or long pass has really helped us out, though."

Heading the Chiefchain assault are running backs Craig Morrow and Dan Weinman.

Morrow, a 5-11, 170-pounder, has rushed for 905 yards in 124 carries (7.3 average) and Weinman (6-0, 177) has added 464 yards in 81 carries (5.7). Weinman has chipped in another 225 yards with seven pass receptions.

"We've got as much speed as anyone in the area in Weinman and Morrow," Barnes says. "Morrow runs the 100 in 10.3 and Weinman in 10.4. That's enough speed to get around the corner and get away from folks."

Morrow gives the Chiefs more than just speed in the backfield.

"Craig is a powerful runner," Barnes says. "He runs inside very well, but also has the speed to get outside. He's not a flashy runner like Marshall Sinclair (Cassopolis) or Tony Harris (Brandywine). He'll just put his head down and try to bull over some people rather than run around them."

As a fullback in the Dowagiac offense, Weinman doesn't carry the football as often. But he does his job well as a blocker and pass catcher.

"Dan is the best blocking fullback that I've seen here in five years," Barnes says. "He also gets the tough yards inside and gets open to catch the ball."

"The thing that impresses me most about both Dan and Craig, though, is that they both play linebacker on defense, too. During a game they may be on the sidelines for just one or two plays and that's it."

Weinman and Morrow are the team's top tacklers on defense.

Directing the Dowagiac offense is senior southpaw Larry McLaughlin. The 5-10, 160-pounder has thrown for 641 yards and eight touchdowns.

"Larry makes our offense go," Barnes says. "He's not a great runner, but he gets the job done. He's a very effective rollout passer. I think he can throw just as well on the run as when he drops back. He's the type of kid who you can tell what you want done in a game and he'll get it done."

Dowagiac, now 5-1 in Blossomland Conference play, will seek the Blossomland title Friday night. The Chiefs travel to Cassopolis for the league showdown. The unbeaten Rangers are ranked No. 2 in the latest Associated Press Class C poll and are 6-0 in Blossomland play.

Early in the season when Dowagiac lost the one-point decision to Edwardsburg, the Chiefchain title hopes were in deep trouble.

"The Edwardsburg game was the low point of the season," Barnes admits. "It's been an upward battle since we lost that game. I told the kids afterward that I couldn't guarantee a championship, but that we could get a co-championship if they came back and put things together."

"This is the thing we as a team have pointed for. We've worked hard to get here and Cass has worked hard to get here. When you look at the game in retrospect, the season has been a tuneup for this one showdown. We'll find out which one is the best."

And it may be the tenacious Chiefchain defense which plays a big role against Cass. Before the season started, Dowagiac figured to have a prolific scoring offense. But the defense was suspect. Just the opposite has turned out to be true.

"Take away the first half of the dePorres game and the first half of the Brandywine game and we've only given up two touchdowns," Barnes beams. "As a result, we're getting the football with more opportunities to punch the ball in."

Besides Morrow and Weinman, Dowagiac has also received standout defensive play from tackle Keith Bradley (6-2, 210), ends Greg Ismay (6-4, 180) and Jeff Mullen (6-2, 200) and Tim Stuppy (6-0, 160) and Todd Wilson (5-11, 160) in the secondary.

"The strange thing is that we have kids who would rather play defense than offense," Barnes says. "We have running backs who would rather hit someone than run the ball."

And it could be that defense which plays a big role for Dowagiac Friday night. That and the big play offense.

Louis' Condition Remains Guarded

LAS VEGAS (AP) — Former heavyweight boxing champion Joe Louis faced further tests today for a suspected heart attack.

The boxer — who wore the heavyweight crown longer than any other and defended it more times — remains in guarded condition in the coronary care unit at Sunrise Hospital, his heartbeat monitored electronically.

The 63-year-old "Brown Bomber" was rushed to the hospital late Saturday after experiencing chest pains at his home. He experienced symptoms related to those of a heart attack, but tests failed to show conclusive evidence of one.

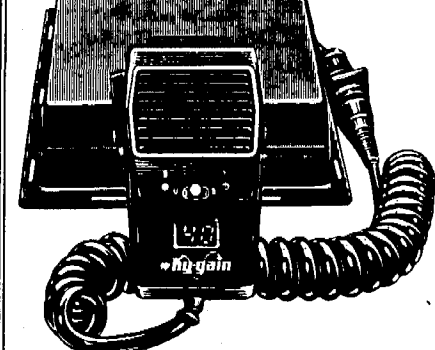

Louis, who has worked as a host-greeter at Caesars Palace for a number of years, has received scores of telephone calls and telegrams from all over the nation. The only visitor permitted in his room is the former champ's wife, Martha.

The couple's 15-month-old adopted daughter, Janet, is in critical condition at the same hospital. She remains in a coma after being injured Oct. 3, when she fell into the family's backyard swimming pool and was rescued by members of an emergency squad.

Women Golfers Still Seeking Equality With Men

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

Hey, Gloria Steinem, where are you? Where have you been, Betty Friedan? Back to the battlements, Billie Jean King. There is still another bastion to be stormed in the name of women's lib, another hurdle to be cleared for the glory of feminine rights, a new height to be scaled for the flagrantly abused, downtrodden weaker sex.

It's women's professional golf. The world's female divot diggers, as comely and as dedicated a collection of athletes as ever assembled on 300 acres of sand, water and rough, have emerged as the stepchildren of big time spectator sports.

So when Deane Berman, commissioner of the men's PGA Tour, and Ray Volpe, boss of the Ladies Professional Golf Association, met in New York Monday to announce details of pro golf's unique $200,000 Mixed Tournament Dec. 1-4 in Largo, Fla., the question was asked:

"How is the prize money, $40,000 for first place, going to distributed — $30,000 for the guy, $10,000 for the gal?"

"Of course not," snapped Berman. "Even split, right down the middle."

"The same for the goose as for the gander," said Volpe.

"That's not the ratio for the regular season," the two executives were reminded. "The regular ratio is around 3 to 1."

"Oh, sure, pure economics," said Berman. "Strictly a community matter. Sponsors pay more for men's golf than women's golf."

"Why is that?" someone inquired. "In tennis, the ladies have attained virtual equal status. Last year Chris Evert made more money than most top men tennis players — even more than Jack Nicklaus made in golf."

"It's like comparing oranges and apples," insisted Berman. "I am not sure of that," interjected Carol Mann, a statuesque 8-foot-3 blonde who has won more than 40 tournaments, including the ladies' Open, and served as president of the LPGA. "I think it has a lot to do with ego."

"Most of the people who put on tournaments are men — financiers, merchants, corporate executives. They want to rub elbows with Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and Tom Watson."

"The best thing we have going for us is chemistry. They have respect for our ability but they also are drawn by attractiveness. They want to play in the pro-am with beauties such as Laura Baugh and Jan Stephenson."

This chemistry, even Miss Mann will admit, hasn't been sufficient to raise women golfers to the level now enjoyed by women tennis players.

Chris Evert, for instance, already has collected $218,368 in tennis prize money this year and Martina Navratilova, a 21-year-old Czech who defeated this country in 1976, has earned $238,367.

The top women winner among the lady golfers is Judy Rankin, with $116,837, about one-third the cache of her tennis counterpart. Only one other woman golfer, JoAnne Carner, has won more than $100,000.

Tom Watson, the leading money winner on the PGA Tour, has collected $310,653, almost three times that of the top woman but less than the No. 1 woman tennis player. Jack Nicklaus has won $284,509. Twenty-one men golfers have made more money than Miss Rankin.

"The comparison is unfair," said Berman. "The ladies have a hell of a product and they're doing a great job merchandising it. You shouldn't expect women golfers to draw like the men. It isn't the same as tennis."

Miss Mann isn't sure, although she has great praise for Volpe's role in building the ladies' tour into a $3.5 million enterprise.

"Our progress has been slow but sure," she said. "But we could use a Billy Jean King. After all, it was Billy Jean who fought for equal prize money with her threats of sidowns and walkouts and, after all, it was Billy Jean who beat Bobby Riggs in the 'Battle of the Sexes'."

"Make no mistake about it. That's what sent women's tennis into orbit. Some day a super star may come along to do the same for us."

One Of Three Reds Selected Foster Top NL All-Star

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cincinnati's George Foster, baseball's leading slugger in 1977, received the most votes of any player on The Associated Press National League All-Star team announced today.

Foster, whose 62 homers and 149 RBI made him one of the top single-season sluggers in baseball history, received 418 votes from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Foster was one of three Reds named to the NL squad. The others were second baseman Joe Morgan, who had 270 votes to 95 for runner-up Rennie Stennett of Pittsburgh; and righthanded pitcher Tom Seaver with 255 votes to 150 for Rick Ronsch of the Chicago Cubs.

First baseman Steve Garvey was the only member of the NL champion Los Angeles Dodgers named to the team in the voting that was completed before the start of the playoffs. Garvey scored the most lopsided victory in the balloting, receiving 352 of the 377 votes cast for his position. Besides Garvey and Morgan, the NL infield consisted of Philadelphia third baseman Mike Schmidt and shortstop Garry Templeton of the St. Louis Cardinals. Schmidt received 262 votes to 87 for Ron Cey of Los Angeles; and Templeton, in his first full major league season, had 218 to 78 for Larry Bowa of Philadelphia.

Joining Foster in the NL outfield were Philadelphia's Greg Luzinski, who had 375 votes, and battling champion Dave Parker of Pittsburgh with 365. Only three left-handed pitchers received votes, with Steve Carlton of Philadelphia the easy winner over Tommy John of Los Angeles and John Candalaria of Pittsburgh. Carlton received 304 votes to 82 for John and 40 for Candalaria. All three were 20-game winners.

The only close vote on the NL team was for the catching job, where Cincinnati's Johnny Bench had been an annual selection. Ted Simmons of St. Louis broke his hold on the job, winning 240-159. The Cards catcher batted .318 with 21 homers and 96 RBI compared to .275, 31 homers and 109 RBI for Bench.

Except for Garvey, no Dodger came close to winning a spot on the team. Cey and John were distant seconds to Schmidt and Carlton. Catcher Steve Yeager and second baseman Davey Lopes both finished third in their races while shortstop Bill Russell and outfielder Reggie Smith placed fourth at their positions, far behind the leaders.

Buchanan Wins

BUCHANAN — Buchanan won its 13th straight cross country meet Monday, beating Dowagiac 20-38 here. Erik Molberg of the Bucks was first in 17:34. John Blek of Dowagiac was second, but the Bucks took the next three spots with John Daugherty, Tom Lear and Mark Entenman. Mike Gant of Dowagiac was sixth and Buchanan's Dennis Decker seventh. Buchanan will participate in the Class C Regionals Saturday at Watervliet and then host the Blossomland Conference meet Monday.

Twins' Carew Leading AL Team Vote-Getter

NEW YORK (AP) — A .388 batting average, 239 hits, 128 runs scored, 14 home runs and 100 runs batted in. Even Rod Carew would be impressed by those statistics.

Since those numbers belong to the Minnesota first baseman, it is understandable that he was the leading vote-getter on The Associated Press' 1977 American League All-Star team. Carew, after having the best season of his illustrious career, impressed a whopping 405 of 422 voters in the balloting by sports writers and broadcasters across the country.

Joining Carew on the AL squad was teammate Larry Hise, who led the league with 119 RBI, in addition to 27 home runs and a .301 batting average. Hise led the outfield voting with 195 votes, six ahead of Baltimore's Ken Singleton and 24 votes more than collected by Bobby Bonds of California. New York's Reggie Jackson, the most valuable player in the World Series, was fourth.

The world champion New York Yankees placed one player on the squad, second baseman Willie Randolph, who gathered 108 votes in easily outdistancing rookie Bump Wills of Texas. Several Yankees placed second at their positions, including catcher Thurman Munson, who lost out to Boston's Carlton Fisk 200-116, third baseman Graig Nettles, whose finished 97 votes behind Kansas City's George Brett, and lefthanded reliever Sparky Lyle, who wound up second to Frank Tanana in balloting for the top left-handed hurler in the AL. Yankee lefthanders Ron Guidry and Don Gullett followed Lyle in the voting, giving New York three of the top four lefthanders.

The right-handed pitcher on the team was Jim Palmer of Baltimore.

Aside from Fisk, Boston's Rick Burleson was named a starter at shortstop with 231 votes and Jim Rice was selected the designated hitter with a 231-vote total. It was the first time the designated hitter spot was included on the team.

LMC Girls Take Two

ALLENDALE — Lake Michigan College got back on its winning ways by taking two girls volleyball matches here Monday. LMC defeated Spring Arbor 15-4, 15-5 and the Indians downed Grand Valley 15-11, 1-18, 15-12.

LMC, now 21-2 on the season, had Deb Lantini with 15 points. Janet Hess ended with 11, Mary Hoff 10 and Sherry Scheffler and Karen Aalfs six each. Top hitters were Hoff with 21, Scheffler 11, Aalfs and Pat Villwack 10 each, Hess nine and Lantini seven.

The Indians face Olivet and Kellogg in a triangular match this Thursday at the LMC gym. The match with Kellogg, undefeated against Michigan schools, could be for the league title. The Kellogg-LMC match will start at about 5:30 with the opener at 4 p.m.

Berrien Best For Ringnecks Pheasant, Goose Kill Down

Early-season pheasant and goose hunting success in southwestern Michigan is running below last year, according to district Department of Natural Resources wildlife chief Bill Bartels.

In opening day surveys, only Berrien county's ringneck harvest was on a par with 1976. But there are reports that Van Buren county also "looked pretty good," although no specific data is available.

"Berrien County came out as predicted with about the same number of hunters as last year and hunter success within a fraction of what it was a year ago," noted Bartels.

"But everywhere else it was down. The Fennville farm unit in the Allegan State Game Area had a very substantial drop...about 30 per cent. The kill in the northern part of Allegan county was also down about 30 per cent."

The lower kill had been predicted by the DNR after a late summer brood count by rural mail carriers showed pheasant numbers to be down about 23 percent statewide. And the biggest decline was in our corner of the state, with the exceptions of Berrien and Van Buren Counties.

The pheasant season continues through Nov. 10.

Meanwhile, the goose harvest in the special season at the Allegan State Game Area is running about 20 percent under 1976, with a kill of 214 honkers at the farm unit and 81 at the Allegan highbanks through Sunday.

The Allegan goose flock is now at about 14,000, a figure considerably below last year's 21,000 count. But the 14,000 count is still the second highest in history.

There have been two hunting accidents so far in southwestern Michigan during the small game season, both non-fatal.

New Trespass Law Working

Michigan's new trespass law is evidently getting the desired results, even though only two trespassing arrests have been made in southwestern Michigan since last Thursday's opening of the small game hunting season.

"Most of the officers say the change in the law has nearly resolved all the trespass problems," reports Darrel Allen, chief of the southwestern Michigan Department of Natural Resources district. "The number of trespass complaints are way down."

Allen does note that hunting pressure was down throughout the area, and that could be a negative result of the new law...sportsmen may have decided to give up hunting rather than put up with the hassle of getting written permission from landowners. But that won't be determined until license sale figures are available.

Under the new law landowners don't have to sign complaints against trespassers. Violators on their land without permission can be arrested on the spot by peace officers.

Allen also noted that some farmers are reluctant to give written permission to hunters because they fear they could be liable for injuries, even though permission slips specifically remove liability.

Hunters Should Stay In Shape

By N.B. SAWYER

Associated Press Writer

Just as you get your car tuned up in the fall, so should hunters get themselves checked out.

Fishing is a relatively passive sport. True, wading up river in a trout stream in the spring can be a bit of a task. But how much effort does it take to flip a night crawler into a hole, or toss a spinner up against the bank?

But carrying shells, a shotgun and a bag of decoys through a waist-deep swamp on the opening day of the duck season is a different story.

So is climbing ridges while grouse hunting, or following a beagle through a rabbit swamp with a shotgun at high port.

One aspect of hunting health that's often overlooked is sight — not the kind on your rifle, but the common eye variety. If you're having just a tad of trouble telling whether that's a teal or a wood duck, or whether that deer in the sumac has antlers, it's time for a checkup.

A general, overall physical examination will cost about as much as a box of steel shot shells. It will turn up any serious problems and your doctor can prescribe a course of exercise.

Those do-it-yourself programs usually don't work. For one thing, a guy usually tries too much. The next day, he's terribly stiff and sore and gives the whole thing up. For another, a person ought to know that his heart is reasonably healthy before he puts a whopping strain on it. And advice from a doctor is usually followed more closely than plans for a self-help.

It's a little late to expect to get in great shape this fall. So maybe the best tip is to take it easy in the woods. Shooting straight comes easier when you're not puffing and panting. And if you move along at a slower pace, not hard enough to work up a sweat, you probably won't spook nearly as much game. Being gentle with the woods as well as yourself is a much more productive way to hunt.

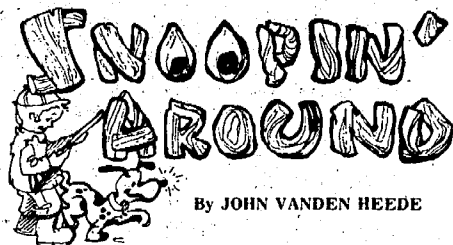

The guy who covers miles and miles at a brisk pace may be doing little more wearing out his boots. The hunter who walks slowly, with frequent pauses, has a better chance of going home with a heavy game pocket.

Other good advice for hunters includes dressing warmly, but in layers. That means you can take some off as it warms up. Wear boots that have non-slip soles and provide ankle support. Wear a hat, because you can lose a lot of heat through your head.

Sighting-In Days Slated

Sighting-in days for deer hunters will be held from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 29, and Sunday, Nov. 6, at the Berrien County Sportsman's Club at Arden.

There will be a fee of $1 per gun for all participants. A range crew will be on hand to assist shooters.

Michigan will probably receive compensation in the future for Great Lakes fish killed at power plants.

"We are trying to minimize the losses, determine what the losses are and obtain compensation for the losses that are unavoidable," says Department of Natural Resources fisheries chief John Scott of studies now underway.

The pump storage power plant at Ludington has one of the highest kill rates. "It puts the volume of the Detroit River through its turbines every 24 hours," notes Scott.

Scott says that it is estimated that by 1990 about five percent on the Great Lakes' onshore water will be going through power plants every day.

Fish are killed when sucked into power plant intakes. Many of the plants are nuclear and use the water for cooling.

Michigan may soon double its Great Lakes plant of lake trout. Michigan now gets its lakies from federal sources and releases about three million annually. Scott hopes to raise about three million more at the state hatchery at Marquette.

"We need more lake trout...it's our money fish," declares Scott. Scott believes that additional fish could be raised through about a $107,000 increase annually in the operating budget. Understandably, he's giving the lakie increase "pretty high priority" in his budget requests.

The market for salmon eggs is way down from last fall, with an average price of about 40 cents per pound, compared to highs of $1.50 to $1.75 a year ago.

Experts don't think salmon egg prices will ever match last year's highs, at least not in the near future.

Fisheries chief John Scott has come up with an "off the top of the head" reason why southwestern Michigan fishermen were catching chinook salmon out on Lake Michigan last spring instead of the usual coho salmon.

"I have no basis for this, but it is possible that something happened over the winter that knocked out a particular size alewife," says Scott. "This could have kept the coho out and brought the chinook in."

Nobody understands us.

Right now, no matter where you are, there's a United Way agency service close at hand. In case you need a hand.

But what kind of agency? That's hard to say, since there are more than 37,000 different United Way agencies. And that's what makes United Way a little hard to understand.

So we're going to explain. And we'll keep it simple.

We're trying to ease people's pain and misery. In all its forms wherever we find it. And no matter who we find it in.

And in one way or another, all of those 37,000 human service agencies are set up to do, just that. They all operate at the local level to provide important health and social services to anyone who needs them.

Help with adoptions and child day care. Help during disaster and civil emergencies. And mental health programs by the hundreds.

Not to mention care for retarded children. Vocational training, rehabilitation and placement for adults who want to work. And services for the aged and chronically ill.

The list goes on and on. And chances are if you've got a special charitable interest, it's one of our interests, too. That's nice to know.

It's also nice to know that the help United Way agencies give is available to anyone, regardless of race, creed or color. Or income.

So please, give us as much help as you can. It'll give you a good feeling.

And who knows? Some day, you could get back a lot more than you give.

Thanks to you...it works...for ALL OF US.

Lakers 'Thick' Around Piers

Lake trout are "really thick" around the St. Joseph piers and in the St. Joseph River, according to a report by Mollhagen Fisheries in St. Joseph.

Lakers are being taken on spawn, K-O Wobblers and Little Clees, but like last year, a significant problem with illegal snagging has developed.

"They've snagged a lot of lakers and (Bill) Edwards (Berrien County conservation officer) has asked for additional help," says district Department of Natural Resources law enforcement chief Gene Coulson.

"It's a bad situation from what Bill tells me. So we are going to be running some plain clothes patrols there from time

Edwards and fellow officers Tim Wolf of Niles and Dick Cox of Edwardsburg have already made numerous arrests since the problem became serious last week.

There are also lots of lake trout up at the Berrien Springs dam. A weekend creel census by Alvin Aldridge at Shamrock Park at Berrien Springs showed that 91 lakies were taken from Thursday through Sunday.

The tally showed 200 fishermen on Thursday with 31 coho, 54 chinook, 27 steelhead and 32 lake trout, while 250 anglers Friday caught 26 coho, 37 chinook, 30 lakies, 25 steelhead and 4 brown trout.

Saturday's tally showed 46 coho, 36 steelhead, 34 chinook, 24 lakies and 2 browns among 400 to 500 fishermen. On Sunday, about 900 fishermen had 24 chinook, 21 steelhead, 18 coho and 6 lake trout.

There has also been good fishing downstream on the St. Joe near the mouth of Pipestone Creek.

Trollers out on Lake Michigan are also taking some coho and steelhead in addition to lake trout.

Laker activity is reported at New Buffalo, St. Joseph, South Haven and Saugatuck by the DNR.

Michigan's State Park User Fees Heading Up

The Natural Resources Commission approved, at its October meeting, an increase in state park user fees. The increase covers overnight camping, rental cabins, frontier cabins and ski-tow fees.

Effective Jan. 1, camping will cost $5 per night per site at all campgrounds having modern facilities including electrical service, whether or not it is used. At campgrounds having either flush toilet facilities and vault-type toilets with electricity at each site, fees will be $4 per night.

In campgrounds having no modern facilities and for those areas used by backpack or hike-in campers, fees will be $2 per night.

The campsite reservation fee went to $3 for those persons utilizing the campsite reservation program.

Trailside cabins within Porcupine Mountains and Wilderness State Parks will cost $10 per night, and $15 per night for frontier cabins elsewhere.

Citizens band radio equipment will be installed at all Coast Guard search and rescue stations throughout the nation in time for the 1978 recreational boating season, according to a release from Adm. Owen W. Siler, U.S. Coast Guard Commandant.

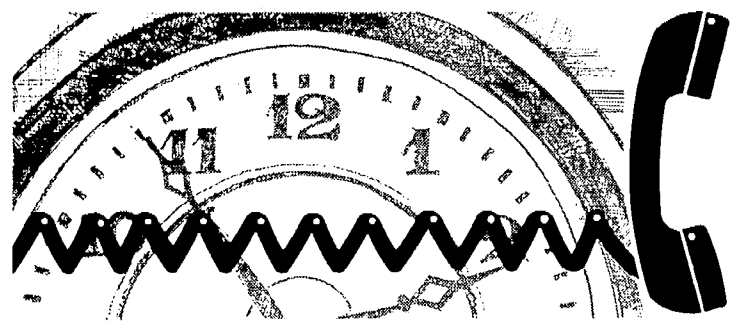

The announcement was made locally from the Coast Guard station at St. Joseph, under the command of Chief William F.

Effective Dec. 1, ski-tow fees in Porcupine Mountains Wilderness State Park are: $5 adult daily; $30 adult annual; $3 minor (under 18) daily; $30 minor (under 18) annual; $3 special (62 years of age or older) daily, and $30 special (62 years of age or older) annual.

The Coast Guard said primary communication will continue to be on the VHF-FM channel 16 marine band, and CB calls will be monitored on a secondary basis.

The St. Joseph station said a large number of recreational boaters have installed CB radios and some were used to summon help during the summer boating season.

NEW HEARING DUE NOV. 14

Rezoning Bid Alive In Coloma

COLOMA — A new hearing was scheduled here Monday night on a request to rezone property on Paw Paw Street from residential to multi-family use.

The city commission set the date for Nov. 14 and will hear the request as the city's zoning appeals board.

Action came after Mrs. Patricia Beezley, city clerk, reported she had received a request for the hearing from Jerry Sirk, 5561 Paw Paw Lake Road, Coloma.

Sirk seeks rezoning at 460 Paw Paw St. to clear the way for apartment construction.

The commission on Oct. 10 rejected the request by one vote, triggering the move for the appeals board hearing. The hearing will start at 8:45 p.m.

In reasons for seeking the hearing, Sirk said no valid written objections were filed and one commission member was absent during the Oct. 10 session.

During the Oct. 10 hearing, two people owning property next to the site objected verbally to the proposal.

In other areas, the city commission approved previously proposed pay increases for both elected and appointed city officials without change.

Included among the pay hikes was a $250 increase to the city treasurer, making her salary $2,750 yearly.

City Treasurer Mrs. Gladys VanDerveer late last month publicly criticized the proposed 10 percent boost, after she said city officials were originally considering a 20 percent boost or $500 more per year.

In a letter from Mrs. VanDerveer, Monday night, read by Mrs. Beezley, Mrs. VanDerveer continued to express her dissatisfaction with the lower boost.

In her letter she said, "I guess I am sitting in the wrong seat, as I happen to know how the money is being spent in this city and the $200 raise is just a drop in the bucket. I don't see any clamps being put on any other spending and you have the same opportunity to do that as you have with the treasurer's salary."

The concluding paragraph, in reference to the city commission's acceptance of approving only the 10 percent hike stated, "I am asking you to please reconsider and if I get the $3,000 yearly salary, I thank you, and if not, I can always resign."

Mrs. VanDerveer, city treasurer for the past 23 years, has filed nominating petitions for another two-year term in the city's Nov. 8 election and is unopposed.

Before approving new salaries, commission members reviewed similar yearly salaries for other city treasurers in comparable areas and learned Coloma pays the highest.

Casting the only no vote on the salaries was Commissioner Robert Wooley.

Other city officials included in the increases were: city clerk, from $9,724 to $10,400, Nov. 14, 1977 and to $11,180 Nov. 13, 1978; health officer, $300 annually; assessor, $4,500 annually.

The pay hikes become effective Nov. 14, 1977.

The commission accepted the resignations of Edward Dill, a seven-year member of the city police force and Cecil Noack, city health officer. Noack declined to be reappointed as health officer, according to Coloma Mayor Glenn Randall.

Clerk Beezley notified the commission the city's request for a federal planning grant was turned down because there were too many other applications this year.

The commission voted to ban Halloween trick or treating inside the city limits. In banning the activity for the second year, the commission urged youngsters to participate in the community Halloween party.

Mrs. Beezley announced the city has received an additional $2,228 in federal anti-recession funds, increasing the fund total to $7,942.

Mrs. Beezley told the commission some purchases proposed in a previous plan for ending the anti-recession funds, such as police radio equipment and a new street sweeper, could not be undertaken because of use guidelines.

A hearing on how to spend the funds will be held during the commission's Nov. 14 meeting.

A request from the Coloma School System to have city public works personnel salt driveways in school buildings, inside the city limits was tabled until city officials could learn if the city would be liable for any accidents occurring at the schools.

The commission approved hiring Jack Page as a part-time police officer at an hourly rate of $3.70. He is also Coloma township clerk.

Commissioner William Weybright announced the city commission's police committee will hold a special meeting Tuesday, Oct. 25, at 7 p.m.

Mayor Randall praised Commissioner Fred Munchow for his work on the commission for the past 14 years. Munchow's term expires next month and he declined to seek re-election in the upcoming election. Monday night's meeting was the last of a commission meeting. Munchow will be attending as a commissioner.

'Living Trust' To Administer Crosby Estate

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP) — Bing Crosby, who guarded his privacy in life, apparently has managed to maintain his privacy after death.

The popular entertainer established a "living trust" four months before his death to handle the bulk of his estate, guaranteeing privacy the estate would not have under normal probate proceedings. Crosby's will was filed for probate Monday.

The living trust, in essence a private will, also provides tax breaks for heirs of the Crosby estate.

The living trust arrangement was unveiled when attorney Richard S. Arnold of Los Angeles filed Crosby's nine-page will for probate in San Mateo County Superior Court.

The will listed cash gifts of $400,000, left Crosby's personal effects to his widow, Kathryn, and gave instructions for the funeral of the entertainer, who died Oct. 14 in Spain. He was 74.

Cash bequests in the will included $150,000 in his widow, $50,000 each to Gonzaga High School and Gonzaga University, both in Crosby's home town of Spokane, Wash., and $5,000 to St. Aloysius Catholic Church also in Spokane.

Crosby also left gifts ranging from $5,000 to $25,000 to a sister, a cousin, four nieces and four longtime business associates.

Richard C. Borgen, Crosby's longtime attorney and friend, was named executor of the will, and the "Harry L. Crosby Trust," both of which were drawn up on June 27. Harry was the crooner's given first name.

Crosby's press spokesman, Maury Poladare, said in Los Angeles Monday that the living trust provides for all of Crosby's seven children, including four sons by his first marriage and two sons and a daughter by his marriage to Kathryn.

Arnold said a tentative estimate of Crosby's wealth has been compiled and would probably be made public when an inventory, required in probate proceedings, is completed.

A Nov. 15 hearing was scheduled to formally appoint the executor and admit the will to probate.

Housing Panel To Eye Choices

South Haven Correspondent

SOUTH HAVEN — The South Haven Housing Commission last night agreed to examine the pros and cons of supplying their maintenance employee with a vehicle as opposed to its current policy of providing a mileage allowance.

The decision to consider the alternatives followed an opinion from the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) that either method would be acceptable.

The commission's maintenance employee, Carl Klock, receives $3 per day as an allowance for using his own pickup truck for work. Klock maintains the allowance is not adequate.

Director Dennis DeVinney noted the commission is spending $780 per year on the allowance. DeVinney estimated the purchase and expense of owning a vehicle would be higher.

Klock was asked to maintain records of mileage and expenses and DeVinney will seek prices on vehicles to allow the commission to weigh the alternatives.

In other matters, the commission authorized DeVinney to seek prices for several capital projects including the upgrading of exhaust fans at the senior citizens building, and the replacement of window tracks at some homes in the family housing project.

Hospital Board Meets

SOUTH HAVEN — The board of the South Haven Community Hospital Authority held a special meeting Monday night and adjourned to an executive session on a personnel issue. Board Chairman Fred Zook said the meeting, attended by 10 of the board's 16 members, was called to discuss the disciplining of an employee, but he would not elaborate.

Gobles Schools Discuss Second Bond Issue Vote

GOBLES — The possibility of putting another building program before voters early next year was discussed by the Gobles School Board Monday night.

Although no official action was taken, it was the general consensus of the board that a request similar to the one made last April would be tried again. District voters defeated a proposed $3,150,000 bond issue by a vote of 623-433 last April. At stake then was a new high school, remodeling of the old high school into a middle school and repairs to the elementary school.

Last night, the board discussed the possibility of a new middle school plus remodeling of the high school and elementary school. The board said the matter would be discussed further at its next meeting.

In other areas, it was reported that the Gobles Athletic Boosters have purchased 300 tons of stone dust, which will be put on the high school track and softball diamonds.

The board also approved purchase of three sections of old steel bleachers from Muskegon high school at a cost of $200. The bleachers will hold six hundred people and will be used at the high school football field.

Berrien Permits Total $112,727

BERRIEN CENTER — Permits for two new houses were among 12 building permits covering an estimated $112,727 in construction work issued during September in Berrien Township, according to Donald Herter, township building inspector.

New house permits were issued to Claire Benson, M-62, Eau Claire, for a house estimated to cost $46,506; and to Ray Miranda, Lake Chapin Road, $25,227.

Other permits were issued to Daniel Alvarez, Long Lake Road, to erect a pole barn at a cost of $14,000; William Stark, Jones Road, addition to home, $8,000; Lowell Bruce, Deans Hill Road, construct pole building, $6,500; Roy Timmreck, Smith Road, garage, $2,000.

Also, Tony Rich, Jones Road, pole building, $1,500; Gale Stiles, M-140, remodeling, $600; Jack Ream, US-31, construct storage building, $400.

Permits were also issued to Lawrence Peachy and Harry Wagner, both M-62, Eau Claire, to move houses. A temporary mobile home permit was issued to Daryl Alfred, Smith Road.

Boy, 9, Found Dead In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — The naked body of a 9-year-old boy described as a "nomad moving from house to house" has been found in a garbage bin in an alley on the city's South Side.

The child, third-grader Richard Miller, who police said was sexually assaulted and strangled, was identified Monday by his mother, Mattie, 38.

"The boy died a violent death," said Police Capt. John Nolan. "He was not clothed and some boxes were placed on the body to cover it."

The body was found by a private garbage collection worker who told police that he spotted a foot as he rolled the garbage bin toward his truck.

The boy was last seen by relatives late Sunday afternoon, but was not reported missing when he failed to come home Sunday night because he often spent the night with friends or relatives, police said.

Who says a woman can't be president?

"Ask my daughter. She's president of her company, and doing a fine job."

"Three years ago Nancy joined Junior Achievement. At that time she wasn't nearly as interested in learning about business as in getting out of the house a night or two a week."

"But she and a couple of other kids developed a new product and they got excited."

"They got together on how to design it, make it, and sell it. Through her efforts the stock in this JA company has tripled."

"When I remind her of how she used to pull the ears off her Teddy bear and always wanted me to make them back, Daddy, she puts her arm around me and pulls my ear."

"I'm proud of my girl. And I know JA didn't do it all. But it sure helped."

BLOOMINGDALE CONTRACT IMPASSE

Teachers Blame School Board

BLOOMINGDALE — Richard Shedd, president of the Bloomingdale Education Association, blamed the school board here Monday night for the current impasse on a new master contract for teachers.

In the meeting, attended by some 60 people, many of them teachers, Shedd, in a prepared statement, said, "We believe the impasse exists because the board continues to place emphasis on the wrong areas and has taken an inequitable position concerning teacher salaries and fringe benefits."

Board President James Muenzer said the board was ready to negotiate at any time. He also urged the board to issue a public rebuttal to the statement, but the board informally agreed to allow its negotiating committee to handle all negotiations and statements.

The BEA statement suggested "...that the board return to the bargaining table with the intent of bargaining a fair and equitable contract and not expect the teachers to accept an inequitable contract and wrongly placed emphasis."

Since 1970, according to the union statement, administrative costs at Bloomingdale have been increased by 204 percent by increased salaries and new positions, from $82,389 in 1970 to $168,611 this past school year. The statement said the superintendent's salary has increased $8,500 during the same time span while the average increase in teacher's pay has been less than $2,900.

The school board currently has offered no raises for teachers, the BEA statement said.

Bloomingdale teachers accepted a 1 1/2 to 2 percent raise last year because the board was going to be "strapped for money," the BEA statement continued. "However, the board increased its general fund equity by over $34,000 raising it to over $370,000, 17 percent of the operating budget."

The BEA claims the school board "pleads poverty" while maintaining over $370,000 in its general fund equity which has doubled since 1969-70.

The statement said the cost of living has increased 33 percent since 1969-70, while the teachers salary schedule has only increased by 88 percent.

A state mediation session on Sept. 27, failed to produce a settlement.

Harold Larsen, director of the Michigan Education Association's Van Buren County office, said the Bloomingdale board has not responded to the BEA's most recent proposal, which was offered since the state mediation session. He said the purpose of the BEA statement was to make the public aware of the "impasse."

In other action, the board voted unanimously to deny a request to transfer the James DeKam property from the Bloomingdale district to the Gobles district. The property is located in the Mill Lake area, on the border between the two districts.

The board went on record favoring a revolving fund for delinquent taxes. Under the plan, Van Buren County would borrow an amount equal to the delinquent taxes, pay each school district, then pay back the loan as delinquent taxes

School Budget Up $157,626 At Eau Claire

EAU CLAIRE — The Eau Claire School Board Monday night approved a 1977-78 school year budget of $1,883,394, up $157,626 from last school year's $1,725,768 figure.

According to Dr. William Horie, school superintendent, $125,000 of the increase resulted from inclusion of the school's hot lunch program in the general fund budget for the first time. Previously, the program has been budgeted separately.

The new budget shows a cut in state aid revenues of $76,592, reflecting a drop in student enrollment from last school year. Student enrollment last school year was 1,362, while this school year's official enrollment is 1,150, a drop of 151 students.

Horie indicated that since the official count was taken Sept. 23, enrollment has dropped even more, down to 1,071 as of Oct. 20.

Cost of teaching salaries went up less than $7,702, from $682,448 in 1976-77 to $670,150 this school year. Horie said the teaching staff has been reduced from 66 positions and a half-time position to 62 positions.

In other action, the board ratified a tentative three-year master agreement with the Eau Claire Education Association. Teachers will vote on the pact Nov. 1, Horie said. Horie said details of the pact would be revealed after teachers hold their ratification vote.

Your shopping cart can tell you a lot about your electric bill.

Like food and everything else you buy these days, inflation has hit us, too.

So it would be easy to blame inflation for rising electric rates and leave it at that.

And, for sure, inflation has doubled and tripled the cost of everything from towers and transformers to coal and cable.

Take coal, our single largest operating expense. Its cost has gone up fourfold and more in the seventies.

But the reasons for rising rates go beyond those everyday expenses.

We must build pollution control devices like precipitators to help keep our air clean as we burn this coal.

And those devices cost millions.

For example: our Tanners Creek Generating Plant cost 130 million dollars to build. Installing new pollution control devices on that plant will cost 96 million dollars.

Of course, power plants cost a lot more today, too. And, to keep up with your needs, we'll need more of them.

Which means we're going to have to borrow money to build them. But even that's more expensive these days.

Interest rates and construction costs have doubled in the last ten years.

Obviously, keeping up with these rising costs and trying to stay ahead of the steadily growing need for electricity isn't easy.

But, by sharing the facts and problems as well as the good things electricity brings, we hope you'll better understand some of the forces that have made your electric bill go up.

Low-tar Parliament

Choose more than just a number.

Any low-tar cigarette will give you a low-tar number. But there's something else that you should consider. We call it "filter feedback."

As you smoke, tar builds up on the tip of your cigarette filter. That's "filter feedback." Ordinary flush-tipped filters put that tar buildup flat against your lips.

And that's where low-tar Parliament has the advantage. Parliament's filter is recessed to keep tar buildup from touching your lips. So there's no "filter feedback." All you get is that smooth Parliament taste.

Stocks Below 800

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market declined broadly today, pushing the Dow Jones industrial average below the 800 level for the first time in more than two years.

Losers outnumbered gainers by a 3-1 margin among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

The Dow last closed below 800 at 794.55 on Oct. 2, 1975.

The latest selling wave in the market has been blamed on concern over rising interest rates, weakness in the dollar, and disagreement between the White House and the Federal Reserve over the Fed's tightening of credit.

Analysts also noted selling today by followers of the so-called Dow Theory, which flashed a negative signal Monday when the Dow Jones industrial and transportation averages simultaneously reached new lows for the year.

General Motors was the most active NYSE issue, down 3/4 at 69 1/2. A 257,000-share block traded at 69 1/2.

On Monday the Dow Jones industrial average fell 5.98 to 802.32, a new two-year low, and the average of 20 transportation stocks tumbled 3.07 to 201.74.

Losers outnumbered gainers by more than a 2-1 margin on the NYSE.

Big Board volume totaled 19.21 million shares against 20.23 million in the previous session.

The NYSE's composite index lost .37 to 30.24.

New Women's Bank Isn't Ignoring Men

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first nationally chartered bank owned and operated by women will cater to the financial and credit needs of women, but it won't ignore men, an official says. "We will do as much good for the women's cause if we are extremely successful as if we just tried to confine our business to women," says Meredith M. Homet, a public relations consultant who will be second in command of the Women's National Bank, which is scheduled to open in late December. The bank's 15-member board, headed by Emily Womach, a former Delaware state treasurer with 27 years of banking experience, includes six men. Ms. Homet also said Monday that the staff will include some men. State-chartered women's banks operate in San Francisco; San Diego; Richmond, Va.; New York; and Greenwich, Conn.

Warrant Charges Niles Man With Denture Violations

NILES — State police here said a 68-year-old Niles man has been named in a warrant in connection with an alleged illegal denture manufacturing and fitting operation.

Police said that in a warrant issued Monday by Berrien Fifth District Court Judge Leo K. Cook, Joseph Hoffman of 109 S. State St. was charged with illegal possession of prosthetic dentures, bridges and other appliances.

The arrest warrant has not been served yet, police said this morning.

The charge was authorized after police took a search warrant to the State Street address Friday and seized an estimated $5,000 worth of dental devices, officers said.

Troopers said they were accompanied Friday by Mark Ewing, an investigator with the Michigan Department of

Gerber's Sales Up; Not Profit

FREMONT, Mich. (AP) — Gerber Products Co., the world's biggest maker of baby food, reported Monday its sales rose more than six percent during the first six months but earnings fell.

John Suarh, Gerber's chairman, blamed the earnings drop upon an 18 week strike at Fremont, high expenses in thwarting a takeover bid, and price controls and container shortages in Latin America.

He did not specify earnings losses from those problems but said Gerber has been granted price relief in three Latin American lands and a better container supply is expected.

Suarh predicted that despite the first half results, Gerber will have record earnings this year. Last year, Gerber had sales of $372 million and earned $2.81 per share.

Sales for the six months ending Sept. 30 were $213 million compared with almost $200 million a year ago. But net earnings for the period fell from $12.8 million or $1.58 per share to $10.1 million or $1.25 per share. Gerber had an average of 8.1 million shares outstanding each year.

Sales during the second quarter were $111.3 million compared to $101.8 million. However, earnings dipped from almost $6.3 million to $5.7 million. On a per share basis, earnings were down seven cents to 71 cents in the second quarter of 1977.

Both the strike at Fremont and the takeover bid by Anderson, Clayton & Co. of Houston, have been settled. Anderson, Clayton withdrew its offer of $40 per share for Gerber after Gerber challenged the bid in both Michigan and federal courts. The Texas firm blamed the court delays for its decision to drop the offer.

'Industrial Fade' Hurting Midwest

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — New industries aren't keeping pace with those going out of business, and that's causing serious economic problems for the Great Lakes states, says Gov. Otis R. Bowen. He told a meeting of the Great Lakes Commission Monday that problems facing the industrial Midwest and the Northeast include inadequate transportation systems, declining populations of cities, energy shortages and high costs for welfare and unemployment compensation. The fault isn't that industry is fleeing to the warmer climate and cheaper labor of the Sun Belt as generally believed, Bowen said. He said studies conducted for governors of the eight Great Lakes states show that industries are becoming obsolete at a faster rate than industries are being created in the Midwest and Northeast.

BERRIEN Sand Firm's Bid Denied By Judge

Berrien Circuit Judge William S. White Monday denied a petition from Martin Marietta Aggregates which sought modification of a preliminary injunction so the firm could mine more land in Bridgman.

William Lagoni, Martin Marietta's attorney, asked White to allow the firm to expand sand mining to 22.7 acres. Lagoni contended the extra land was needed to meet demands from customers.

Steel Firm Profits Off By 46%

PITTSBURGH (AP) — National Steel Corp. has reported that third quarter profit fell 46 percent over the same period a year ago, due mostly to what it called illegal strikes and import competition.

The nation's third largest steel producer said net income was $13.6 million, or 71 cents per share, on sales of $804.9 million in the third quarter, compared with $29.4, or $1.55 per share, on revenues of $754.6 million in 1976.

Strikes at several National coal mines in Kentucky and West Virginia, and at its largest ore pellet plant in Minnesota, idled the facilities for about eight weeks, Chairman George A. Stinson said Monday.

Last week, National charged firms in six European nations with dumping steel products in the United States and asked the U.S. Treasury Department to invoke special duties under the Anti-Dumping Act of 1921.

Year-to-date earnings amounted to $43.7 million, or $2.27 a share, on sales of $2.38 billion, compared with profits of $70.6 million, or $3.74 per share, on revenues of $2.2 billion in the first nine months of 1976.

Primary steel production was off 10.9 percent in the first three quarters of 1977 and shipments were down 4.7 percent over the previous year, Stinson said.

Japanese Investment Welcomed

TOKYO (AP) — Mayor Frederick R. Brydges of Battle Creek, Mich., said his city welcomes Japanese capital investment to strengthen economic relations between Japan and the United States.

Brydges told a news conference that Battle Creek would like to invite capital investment in auto parts, machine tools, food products and pharmaceuticals.

The mayor said he explained to Japanese businessmen at a seminar Monday the advantages of his city as an industrial site. Battle Creek is a U.S. Customs port of entry and the largest industrial site in the area, Brydges said.

Brydges arrived Sunday for a two-week visit to invite Japanese investment to his city. He was accompanied by Michigan Republican State Sen. Harry A. Demaso.

Brydges said he will meet with executives of the Japan Auto Part Industries Association, motorcycle makers, automakers including Nissan Motor Co. and Toyota Motor Co., and producers of pharmaceuticals, foodstuffs and machine tools.

He said he will leave Tokyo for Osaka in western Japan on Wednesday for further discussions with Japanese businessmen.

Repeater Felons Handed Prison Terms

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

An Inkster, Mich., man who has served two prison terms since 1967 was again sentenced to prison yesterday in Berrien Circuit Court.

Sentenced to 4 to 8 years in prison by Judge William S. White was Dennis B. Norton, 31. He had been convicted of violation of the controlled substance act second offense — possession of heroin April 6 in Waterliet Township. The judge said Norton in 1967 was sentenced to 10 to 15 years in prison for assault with intent to rob while armed. He was paroled, then received a three-year probation term in 1973 for violating the controlled substance act, and later that year received concurrent prison terms of 1 to 2 and 2½ to 4 years for other controlled substance violations.

"You've not learned to live within the rules of society," White said while imposing the sentence. White also sentenced Daniel E. Cullen, 29, of 3615 Hlawatha Lane, Stevensville, to 2 to 4 years in prison for larceny in a building, the theft of a stereo system and air conditioner from the Plaza Spa in Benton Township on Aug. 8. White said Cullen had received five probation sentences in Michigan and California since 1965 for theft and drug offenses.

Dennis D. Gundry, 21, of 762 Territorial Road, Benton Harbor, was sentenced to four years probation by White, and ordered to remain at Bullock House rehabilitation center in Grand Rapids until released by the court or Bullock House authorities. Gundry was charged with larceny in a building — the theft of cash Sept. 7 from Flip's Donut shop in St. Joseph.

In sentences by Judge Julian E. Hughes:

James Griffin Jr., 37, of Moore Street, Sodus Township, was sentenced to 2 to 5 years in prison for carrying a concealed weapon, a revolver, May 15 in Benton Township.

Leon Dyer, 17, of Benton Harbor, was ordered to begin a two-year probation with the first four months in jail for attempted larceny from a building, the attempted theft of a speaker Aug. 14 from the office of Dr. Sue Ann Nagai in Benton Harbor. Dyer was also assessed $250 fine and costs.

Debbie Collins, 23, of Ravines Trailer Park, Benton Township, was placed on two years probation and assessed $200 fine and costs for attempted delivery of amphetamines March 30 in Benton Township.

Sentenced to two years probation by Judge Chester J. Byrns were:

Ricky Layton, 17, of 7333 Red Arrow Highway, Stevensville, for attempted larceny in a building, the attempted theft of guns and ammunition June 18 from the residence of Ralph Orris in Baroda Township.

Dennis Davis, 22, of Benton Harbor, for breaking and entering the Purple Cow ice cream shop at 867 East Main St., Benton Harbor, on Aug. 19. Harvey L. Curry, 18, of 637 Green Ave., Benton Harbor, for entering Cook's Tavern in Benton Harbor without breaking Aug. 18. He was also assessed $250 fine and costs.

In an arraignment before Byrns, Curtis J. Van Loan, 18, of 421 E. Red Arrow Highway, Waterliet, pleaded guilty to attempted breaking and entering St. Joseph Catholic Church on Lucinda Lane, Waterliet, on Aug. 24.

In arraignments before White: Curtis Williams, 22, of Three Rivers, pleaded guilty to attempted unarmed robbery — attempting to rob Cervern Vicks of cash Sept. 30 in Benton Harbor.

Daniel T. Schmidt, 17, of 152 Hampton Road, Fairplain, was sentenced to pay $48 for shooting at ducks past the legal shooting time of 6:50 p.m. The offense occurred at 6:58 p.m. Oct. 12 in Benton Township, according to the ticket written by Conservation Officer Bill Edwards.

Dean M. Neeland, 33, of Arlington Hts., Ill., was sentenced to pay $100 for impaired driving in Stevensville Sept. 22. Sentenced to pay $155 for driving under the influence of intoxicants were Dannie Jones, 21, of 778 E. Vineyard St., Benton Harbor; and James W. White, 38, of Michigan City, Ind.

Zuhl Will Get Sanity Exam

Ronald W. Zuhl, accused of killing his parents in their Berrien Township home Oct. 9, pleaded innocent to two charges of open murder when arraigned Monday in Berrien Circuit Court. Judge William S. White then ordered Zuhl committed to the Center for Forensic Psychiatry in Ypsilanti for an evaluation to determine whether Zuhl is competent to stand trial and whether he is legally insane.

Zuhl, 31, who lived with his parents on Lake Road, had been held without bond at the Berrien County Jail. He is charged with the shooting deaths of Robert W. Zuhl, 70, and Helena Martha Zuhl, 67. A paper in Zuhl's court file from his court-appointed attorney, Donald Bleich, informed the prosecutor's office that if the case goes to trial "the defense will introduce evidence indicating that the defendant was insane at the time of the commission of the alleged offense."

On a motion from Bleich, White also appointed Dr. Charles Payne, of St. Joseph, and Dr. C.M. Schrier, of Kalamazoo, both psychiatrists, to examine Zuhl to determine his sanity. The case has been assigned to Judge Zoe S. Burkholtz, but no trial date has been set pending the outcome of the psychiatric examinations.

Paw Paw Man Demands Hearing On Pot Charge

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — A Paw Paw man arrested Saturday after state police have confiscated six bags of suspected marijuana from a car in Decatur, was arraigned Monday in Seventh District Court.

Gregory Paul Price, 17, Route 1, Paw Paw Road, was released on his own recognizance after demanding a preliminary examination on a charge of possession of marijuana with intent to deliver. A Nov. 1 hearing was set.

Police said the car had been stopped after it had been observed speeding on M-51, and that the suspected marijuana was seized during a subsequent search.

In other cases, Michael Sandy, 29, of the Phelps Mobile Home Villa, Decatur, was released on his own recognizance after demanding a preliminary examination on a charge of assaulting a police officer. The hearing was set for Nov. 1.

Sandy is accused of assaulting Cass sheriff's Deputy Kent Clark Saturday after Clark had gone to Sandy's home in connection with an investigation of a complaint in Cass County.

Billy Joe Sirrine, 18, North 24th Street, Mattawan, demanded a preliminary examination on a charge of larceny over $100. Bond was set at $500 until a Nov. 1 hearing.

He is accused of stealing several hundred dollars worth of tools from a home on 25th Street near Mattawan on Sept. 13.

John S. Martinez, 31, Kalamazoo, was released on his own recognizance after demanding a preliminary examination on a charge of possession of amphetamines Sept. 4 in Paw Paw.

A 16-year-old Lincoln Township boy was wounded Monday evening when the shotgun he was carrying accidentally discharged while he was hunting, according to Berrien Sheriff's Sgt. Jack Knuth.

Knuth said Chris Dean Prentice, 16, of 7560 Red Arrow Highway, was treated at Memorial Hospital for minor wounds on his right hand after the 7 p.m. accident.

Chris told police he was squirrel hunting on land behind his home when the shotgun he was carrying discharged accidentally as he was climbing a hill.

Town Approves Gay Rights

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — The Eugene City Council early today approved a measure to prohibit discrimination against homosexuals.

The 5-3 vote came shortly after midnight on an amendment that adds the words "sexual orientation" to the city's 1969 human rights ordinance.

The ordinance outlaws discrimination in housing, employment and public accommodations.

TELLS OF ROBBERY: Victor Nash, 57, San Francisco gem dealer, tells how he was robbed Monday of $2 million in jewels as he left a Seattle, Wash., motel. He was approached by man armed with a revolver as he went to his car where collection of 30 different kinds of gems were in trunk. Nash was struck on the head with a gun. (AP Wirephoto)

Five Ask Felony Charge Hearings

Five people demanded examinations on felony charges and 11 were sentenced Monday in Berrien Fifth District Court.

Two Chicago men charged with possession of burglary tools demanded examinations. Wayne J. Hickson and Melvin Wilson, both 27, were jailed under $10,000 bonds. They were arrested in New Buffalo by state troopers Saturday night. Wrenches, pliers, pry bar and flashlights were seized from a van occupied by the pair, troopers said.

Jerry L. Price, 27, of 1911 Eastland Ave., Benton Township, demanded examination on a charge of resisting arrest Oct. 1 in Benton Harbor. He also pleaded innocent to two other Benton Harbor charges involving the same date. He is accused of assault and battery against Nancy Dyer and entering her residence without permission. Price's bonds totaled $4,500.

David A. Killin (also known as Neidlinger), 20, of Buchanan, demanded examination on a charge of uttering and publishing a false $250 check in New Buffalo June 4. Bond was $10,000.

Mary L. Williams, 39, of County Road 384, Grand Junction, demanded examination on a charge of writing an insufficient funds check for over $50 — $72 — at the Benton Township Bargain Center Aug. 28. She was released on $2,000 personal recognizance bond.

Walter Meridy, Jr., 22, of Benton Harbor, was sentenced to 60 days in jail, six months probation and restitution of doctor and hospital bills for assault and battery against Sandra Smith in Benton Harbor Oct. 11. He pleaded guilty to the charge. The original charge of assault with a deadly weapon, a stick, was dismissed.

tenced to pay fine and costs of $255 for possession of marijuana in New Buffalo Oct. 23.

Daniel T. Schmidt, 17, of 152 Hampton Road, Fairplain, was sentenced to pay $48 for shooting at ducks past the legal shooting time of 6:50 p.m. The offense occurred at 6:58 p.m. Oct. 12 in Benton Township, according to the ticket written by Conservation Officer Bill Edwards.

Dean M. Neeland, 33, of Arlington Hts., Ill., was sentenced to pay $100 for impaired driving in Stevensville Sept. 22. Sentenced to pay $155 for driving under the influence of intoxicants were Dannie Jones, 21, of 778 E. Vineyard St., Benton Harbor; and James W. White, 38, of Michigan City, Ind.

High Court Says Tip OK In BH Man's Conviction

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — An anonymous tip can be used as probable cause to make an arrest if supported by other sources, the state Supreme Court ruled Monday.

The court, on a 5-2 ruling, overturned a Court of Appeals decision which granted a new trial to Olysses Walker in Berrien County Circuit Court.

Walker, formerly of Benton Harbor, was sentenced in 2½ to 4 years in prison in 1973 for possession of heroin. He had already been paroled when the appeals court overturned his conviction in September, 1975.

In overturning the conviction, the appeals court said police, acting on an anonymous tip that Walker would make a trip to pick up drugs, did not have probable cause to arrest him.

However, the Supreme Court disagreed and affirmed Walker's conviction. It said an anonymous tip may be the basis for probable cause to make an arrest if sufficiently bolstered by other sources.

It said, however, police officials must show that they acted on something more than a casual rumor, and they must disclose both the informant's reasons for believing the information and why police believed its reliability.

In Walker's case, the court said, the tip contained enough detail to infer the informant had obtained it in a reliable manner. It spelled out where Walker was going, the purpose of the trip, a description of automobiles, the time he'd return and other specifics.

Several details were corroborated by independent police work, the court added.

Chief Justice Thomas G. Kavanagh and Justice Charles Levin disagreed with the majority opinion. They argued that when an informant is unknown, there is no way to judge his reliability or motive.

It is not enough for police to be suspicious, the justices said. In Walker's case, the tip and other suspicions were not enough to lead police to believe Walker was committing a crime.

Sterne Brunson Open House Set

The Benton Harbor Sterne Brunson Elementary School Parent Advisory Organization will hold an open house for parents and the community at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow, according to T.C. Wallace Jr., school principal.

Speaker at the open house will be Dr. Charles Warfield, associate professor of educational leadership at Western Michigan University.

River Valley School Budget Set

THREE OAKS — The River Valley School Board Monday night adopted a balanced budget of $2,826,875 for the 1977-78 school year.

The board approved the budget following a public hearing at the high school here at which no objections were voiced. The budget represents a 4.64 percent increase over last year's actual expenditures of $2,732,038.

The increase was attributed largely to inflationary costs of utilities and supplies.

Income to meet the budget will be realized in the following manner: Local taxes, $1,785,653; state aid, $910,860, with the remainder in federal funds and miscellaneous sources, the board said.

The board stressed that an unknown factor that could affect the budget is the outcome of negotiations on a 1977-78 master teaching contract. Teachers are currently working without a new contract.

The 1977-78 budget lists major expenditures as follows: Elementary instruction, $512,512; middle school instruction, $320,047; high school instruction, $405,605; and special education instruction at $140,083.

The school district had a cash balance of $81,889 and the end of the 1976-77 school year. The budget calls for maintaining that balance.

In other areas, the board set Nov. 7 and 9 as dates for public hearings on the district's proposed building program. School electors will vote Nov. 14 on a new $3,715,000 bond issue, which if approved, would be used to construct a new middle school to replace the current middle schools at New Troy and Three Oaks, plus additions and renovations to the district's three elementary schools.

The first public hearing on Nov. 7 will be held at New Troy middle school and the second on Nov. 9 at at Three Oaks middle school. Both hearings start at 8 p.m. Trustee James Schreiber was named to chair both hearings.

New Nursing Director Set For Pawating

NILES — Mrs. Virginia Lewis has been named director of nursing at Pawating hospital here, hospital officials have announced.

She will supervise 230 nursing personnel at the hospital.

Mrs. Lewis, who had been serving as acting director of nursing, has worked at the hospital for several periods of time since 1967, when she moved to the community.

She came to Pawating from the University of Iowa Medical Center at Iowa City, Iowa.

The board approved reduced tuition rates for out-district students for the 1977-78 year. The new rates approved are $228 for elementary students, down $73; and $276 for secondary students, down $33.

The board also approved funding for the special education student needs program, which had been estimated at around $2,600 based on a full year. Federal funding is no longer available for the program involving seven students.

Donald Bussler, high school principal, reported on the high school government class planned trip to Washington, D.C. He said the class would leave South Bend airport at 5 a.m. and return at 10 p.m. the same day. The trip will be held one day in April.

Bussler also reported on the possibility of a German exchange program in which German class students at River Valley would participate. He said the plan calls for 12 to 15 students from Germany to come here in March or April, with local students visiting Germany in July and August. The board supported the idea, if enough money can be raised by the students to finance the endeavor.

UNICEF Collections Scheduled

There will be trick or treating fund drives for UNICEF in at least two southwestern Michigan communities, South Haven and Lakeshore, on Halloween night.

Some 29 members of the Lakeshore High School Medical Careers Club will be going door-to-door collecting UNICEF donations that will be turned over to the Berrien County Council of Churches, according to Joe Rodriguez, club president.

In South Haven, youngsters will be going door-to-door with the bright orange canisters starting at 6 p.m. That drive is being sponsored by the South Haven Area Ministerial Association.
